POWER TUSSLE

Kharge says leadership issue will be resolved after talks

Cong high command moves swiftly to settle K'taka's escalating leadership dispute

NEW DELHI

Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge on Wednesday said the party's top leadership — including Rahul Gandhi and Sonia Gandhi — will collectively resolve the ongoing power tussle in Karnataka, which has intensified amid speculation of a possible change in leadership halfway through the government's five-year term.

Kharge and Rahul Gandhi are expected to meet in the next 48 hours to discuss the matter. Following this, Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar are likely to be summoned to the national capital, possibly on Friday, for further consultations. Sonia Gandhi is also expected to participate in the meeting.

The leadership debate has grown louder in recent weeks, fuelled by chatter about an alleged "power-sharing" pact between Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar in 2023. The Congress government reached its halfway mark on November 20, reviving speculation that a transition may be underway.

Will change of guard take place in state soon?

- Karnataka PWD Minister Jarkiholi said CM Siddaramaiah urges Congress High Command to clarify the leadership change issue promptly.
- Priyank Kharge said Congress high command will decide Karnataka power-sharing, addressing rumors, backward class issues, and political stability in the Delhi meeting today.
- State HM Parameshwara declined commenting on Dalit CM speculation and cabinet expansion.

"Only the people there can say what the government is doing. But I would like to say that we will resolve such issues. Rahul Gandhi, Sonia Gandhi and I will sit together and deliberate... We will provide the mediation required,"

—Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress President

Siddaramaiah has publicly stated that the high command alone can "put a full stop to the confusion," while Shivakumar has referred to a "secret deal between five to six of us" regarding the sharing of power — comments that have added intrigue to the unfolding political drama.

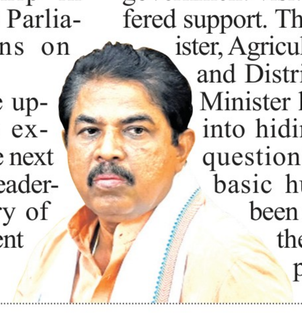
Reports suggest that the central leadership plans to make a decision on any change in leadership in Karnataka before the Parliament session begins on December 1.

The outcome of the upcoming meetings is expected to determine the next phase of Karnataka's leadership and the trajectory of the Congress government in the state.

Leadership tussle overshadows farmer distress, says R. Ashoka

BENGALURU

Opposition leader R. Ashoka has strongly criticised the Congress government, accusing it of ignoring farmers amid the ongoing tussle for the Chief Minister's chair. He said CM Siddaramaiah and DCM D.K. Shivakumar are prioritising power over the livelihoods of Karnataka's food providers. Highlighting the plight of farmers, Ashoka cited a tragic incident in Gurlapur where a protesting farmer attempted suicide by consuming poison. "No minister from this heartless government visited him or offered support. The Sugar Minister, Agriculture Minister, and District In-Charge Minister have all gone into hiding," he said, questioning whether basic humanity has been abandoned in the corridors of power.



Fulfill Constitutional duties: PM Modi urges citizens

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, in a letter marking Constitution Day on Wednesday, urged citizens to actively fulfill their constitutional duties and contribute to building a Viksit Bharat. Emphasising that rights and duties go hand in hand, he said the nation's progress depends on how responsibly citizens uphold the values embedded in the Constitution.

"It is our responsibility to fulfil the dreams envisioned by the framers of our Constitution. When we work with this sense of duty, our nation's social and economic progress will multiply manifold," Modi wrote. While acknowledging that the Constitution guarantees fundamental rights, he reminded citizens that it also entrusts them with essential duties. "These duties form the foundation of a strong democracy," he added, urging every individual to act in ways that strengthen national interests.

The Prime Minister highlighted the significance of voting as a core democratic responsibility. Encouraging greater participation in elections, he proposed that educational institutions celebrate Constitution Day by honouring first-time voters turning 18, instilling in youth a deeper sense of civic responsibility. "Our Constitution has given us the right to vote. As citizens, it is our duty to never miss the opportunity to vote in national, state and local elections," he wrote.

Modi also reflected on how the Constitution has enabled people from modest backgrounds, including himself, to aspire and achieve, calling it a document that offers "the power to dream and the strength to work towards it."

Paying tribute to the members of the Constituent Assembly, he invoked Mahatma Gandhi's ideals, noting that the spirit of duty is essential for democracy as well as for social and economic advancement.

Govt approves ₹7,280 cr to boost rare earth magnet manufacturing

NEW DELHI

The Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved a major scheme to promote the manufacturing of Sintered Rare Earth Permanent Magnets (REPM) in India, with a total outlay of ₹7,280 crore. The initiative includes sales-linked incentives worth ₹6,450 crore over five years, aimed at encouraging local production and reducing dependence on imports.

The scheme will facilitate the establishment of integrated manufacturing facilities spanning the entire value chain—from converting rare earth oxides to metals, metals to alloys, and alloys to finished REPMs. It targets a total production capacity of 6,000 Metric Tons Per Annum (MTPA), with five units each capable of producing 1,200 MTPA. The seven-year program includes two years dedicated to setting up the manufacturing units.

India's REPM consumption is expected to double by 2030, driven by demand from electric vehicles, defence systems, and renewable energy technologies. The scheme aims to create a strong domestic ecosystem for these critical components. Currently, China dominates the global rare earth sector, controlling 60% of mining and nearly 90% of refining and processing.

Ahmedabad to host Commonwealth Games 2030

AHMEDABAD

Ahmedabad has been officially confirmed as the host city for the 2030 Commonwealth Games, marking a landmark moment for India and the Commonwealth Sport Movement. The decision was ratified at the Commonwealth Sport General Assembly in Glasgow, where delegates from 74 member nations approved India's bid. The Indian Olympic Association said the Games will celebrate the centenary edition with a dynamic vision centred in Ahmedabad, showcasing the nation's culture, scale, and sporting ambition.

State to form panel to reintroduce student elections, announces DCM

BENGALURU

Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday announced the state government's plan to reintroduce student elections, aiming to nurture political leadership on college campuses. The announcement was made during a Constitution Day event organised by the Karnataka Congress.

Shivakumar revealed that the idea to restart student elections came following a letter from Rahul Gandhi, Leader of the Opposition in Lok Sabha, to him and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. "I'm announcing today that a small committee will be formed to examine the feasibility of holding student elections and submit a report," he said.

Student elections in Karnataka were banned in 1989 after a few violent incidents, which led to the disappearance of politically affiliated student bodies from colleges. Shivakumar, who also serves as Karnataka Congress president, said former student leaders will be consulted to study the advantages and challenges of reviving campus elections. "Back then, there were criminal activities associated with the polls. We will explore ways to conduct elections while controlling such issues," he added.

Identify anti-Constitutional forces in India: CM Siddaramaiah

"The ₹43,000 crore set aside for the all-round development of Scheduled Communities should support community growth. Hostels must help children pursue education, and additional funds from development corporations should further aid their progress. Awareness of laws and rights is essential for all citizens."

—K H Muniyappa, The Minister for Food and Civil Supplies

BENGALURU

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah called for identifying anti-constitutional forces in the country while speaking at the Constitution Day 2025 celebrations organized by the Department of Social Welfare at the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Bhavan in Vasanthnagar. Paying tribute to the architect of the Indian Constitution, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, he highlighted that prior to the adoption of Ambedkar's Constitution, the country was governed by the unwritten Manusmriti, which contained discriminatory and inhumane provisions. Ambedkar's Constitution abolished these oppressive rules, which is why certain groups opposed it.

Siddaramaiah emphasized that the Constitution and Ambedkar's vision aimed at creating an egalitarian society and eliminating inequality. He reminded citizens that the mantra "We the People of India" forms the foundation of the Constitution, reflecting extensive deliberations over one year in the Constituent Assembly to frame a document suited to India's diverse religions, castes, and communities. Unlike other global constitutions, India's Constitution is a written (rigid) framework, incorporating safeguards such as reservations to address historical social hierarchies.

The CM urged people to internalize Ambedkar's final address in the Constituent Assembly, warning that equality cannot easily be achieved in a society entrenched in caste-based discrimination. He stressed that no religion promotes hatred against Dalits, backward classes, Muslims, or minorities. He recalled that out of 285 members of the Constituent Assembly, 284 ratified the Constitution, showing near-unanimous approval of Ambedkar's vision.

Siddaramaiah also highlighted the state government's efforts to implement welfare schemes such as Anna Bhagya and Shishu Bhagya, aimed at reducing inequality and empowering marginalized communities. The event was attended by ministers H.C. Mahadevappa, K.H. Muniyappa, M.C. Sudhakar, legal advisor A.S. Ponnanna, political secretary Naseer Ahmad, and other dignitaries.

41 naxalites surrender; 32 carried ₹1.19 cr bounty

BIJAPUR

Forty one Naxalites, 32 of them collectively carrying a reward of Rs 1.19 crore on their heads, surrendered in Chhattisgarh's Bijapur district on Wednesday, officials said.

The cadres, including 12 women, turned themselves in before senior police officials here, citing they were impressed by the government's new surrender and rehabilitation policy and "Poona Margham" (rehabilitation for social reintegration drive of Bastar range police), Bijapur Superintendent of Police Jitendra Kumar Yadav said.

The surrendered cadres have expressed faith in the Constitution and pledged to live a dignified and secure life within the democratic framework.

Among them, four were members of PLGA (People's Liberation Guerrilla Army) battalion no.1 and different companies of Maoists, three of area committees, 11 platoon and area committee party members, two PLGA members, four militia platoon commanders, one deputy commander, six militia platoon members, and the remaining belonged to frontal outfits of outlawed CPI (Maoist), he said.

India slams Pakistan's criticism of flag ceremony at Ram temple

NEW DELHI: India on Wednesday firmly rejected Pakistan's criticism of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's participation in the flag hoisting ceremony at the Ram temple in Ayodhya, asserting that Pakistan has no moral standing to lecture others on religious tolerance. The ceremony, held on Tuesday, marked the formal completion of the temple's construction. External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal responded to Pakistan's remarks, saying, "We have seen the reported statements and reject them with the contempt they deserve. As a country with a deeply stained record of bigotry, repression, and systemic mistreatment of its minorities, Pakistan has no moral standing to lecture others." He added that instead of delivering "hypocritical homilies," Pakistan should reflect on its own poor human rights record and focus on addressing the challenges faced by its minority communities.

BLAST SUPPORT SUSPECT

Red Fort blast: NIA arrests another man for aiding main accused

CHANDIGARH

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) has arrested Soyab, a resident of Dhauj near Al Falah University in Faridabad, for allegedly providing shelter and logistical support to Dr Umar-un Nabi, the prime accused in the November 10 Red Fort blast. With this, the number of arrests in the case has risen to seven, all linked to what investigators describe as a sophisticated "white-collar" terror module.

Six individuals are in NIA custody for allegedly assisting Umar:

- Dr Muzammil Shakeel Ganai (Pulwama)
- Dr Shaheen Saeed (Lucknow)
- Mufti Irfan Ahmad Wagay (Shopian)
- Amir Rashid Ali
- Jasir Bilal Wani

According to NIA sources, Soyab is suspected to have accommodated Umar shortly before the attack and aided his movements. The agency said it continues to pursue multiple leads across states in coordination with local police to identify the wider network behind the suicide bombing.

Investigators will question Soyab alongside previously arrested suspects to piece together the operational structure of the module believed to have facilitated the bombing. Efforts to unravel the full conspiracy are ongoing, officials said.

As part of the probe, the NIA recently took Dr Ganai to Al Falah University for a detailed reconstruction of his movements. He also led investigators to two shops in Sohna where he allegedly purchased 1,600 kg of ammonium nitrate between December 2022 and February 2023. Meanwhile, Faridabad Police have seized fertiliser sales records from multiple shops across the NCR region to trace bulk purchases linked to the case.

CSR drive to transform space under flyovers in Bengaluru

Rao directed completing pending tasks with BMRCL support, improving roads and medians, removing illegal structures, and resolving TDR issues quickly

BENGALURU

Bengaluru's under flyover spaces will soon get a new life, as Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao ordered officials to use CSR funds for development across East City Corporation areas. During his inspection, Rao said clean and useful public spaces under flyovers can reduce clutter and improve city life.

He pointed to the Iblur Junction project, where beautification has changed the look and feel of the area. At Carmelaram flyover, L and T created a Chaturanga Mandapa style space under CSR, which he asked to be repeated in other zones.To ease traffic on Outer Ring Road, three entry and exit points are already working.He directed that pending points be completed soon with support from BMRCL.Rao also ordered better service roads and median work at Kaikondrahalli.Illegal structures must be removed, and TDR problems should be solved fast.

He stressed quick drain connections near Wipro to avoid flooding in rains.

On roads from Sarjapur to Chikkabellandur, he said full asphalting and footpaths should follow once TDR clears. The delayed Gunjur Club Road must be repaired after drain work ends.

Rao also ordered removal of illegal footpath shops, boxes, and cables.

He proposed acquiring forest land near Varthur Gunjur Road to build a new stretch. This road will reduce daily traffic stress for local commuters. He finally urged officials to finish pending works fast and create safer cleaner streets for the people of Bengaluru.

The inspection was attended by senior corporation officers and engineers.

Citizens welcomed the move and hoped for quick results.

Property tax drive ordered in B'luru West

The Commissioner directed officers to complete all pending e-Khata applications by weekend, avoid unjust rejections, and resolve technical issues with GBA team to prevent citizen inconvenience.

BENGALURU

Commissioner Dr. Rajendra K.V. has asked officials of Zone One, West Municipal Corporation, to speed up property tax collection and clear pending public services without delay. He gave these directions during a review meeting of the revenue department.

The Commissioner told officers to finish all pending e-Khata applications by this weekend. He said no application should be rejected without clear reasons. He stressed that citizens must not suffer due to technical problems or slow processes. Officials shared issues they face with the e-Khata system, and he promised to speak with the GBA technical team to find quick solutions.

On property tax recovery, he ordered all revenue officers to work actively on collecting overdue taxes. He directed that all revision cases be taken up on priority. Demand notices must be issued immediately, and strict steps should be taken against defaulters. In serious cases, closure action on properties may be used, he warned. The meeting focused on voter list preparation and election readiness. Dr. Rajendra directed officials to complete the draft voter list on time and finalize it without delay. Booth Level Officers will be given training to handle their responsibilities. He made it clear that no private person should interfere in their official duties.

With teachers' constituency elections coming soon and municipal elections expected anytime, he asked for careful planning of all election work. He said accuracy, fairness and transparency must be maintained at every stage.

Additional Commissioner Manjunatha Swamy, Joint Commissioner Aarti Anand, Deputy Commissioner Abdul Rab, and other revenue officials attended the meeting.

Experts link declining liquor sales to repeated price hikes, despite excise revenue rising, with the ₹40,000 crore target challenging

K'taka liquor sales drop sharply in 7 months

BENGALURU

wLiquor sales in Karnataka have seen a significant decline over the past seven months, raising concerns for the state government's revenue collection. The Excise Department, which contributes about 20 percent of the state's treasury, has recorded lower sales compared to last year. Data shows that from April to October 2024, 407.40 lakh boxes of Indian Made Liquor (IML), including whiskey, rum, brandy, and gin, were sold. During the same period in 2025, sales fell to 403.04 lakh boxes, a drop of 4.36 lakh boxes. The decline is even sharper in beer sales, which fell from 279 lakh boxes in 2024 to 228 lakh boxes in 2025—a drop of 51 lakh boxes. Experts and sellers attribute the decrease mainly to repeated price hikes by the Siddaramaiah government since taking office. Liquor prices have been increased three to four times to generate revenue for government schemes. While the excise department collected Rs 35,530 crore in 2024-25, it had collected Rs 34,629 crore the previous year. The current year's target is Rs 40,000 crore, but falling sales make it challenging to achieve. Some observers also suggest that changing consumer habits, alternative beverages, and the cannabis-opium epidemic may have contributed to declining demand. Historical data shows IML sales have been falling over the past three years, from 410.78 lakh boxes in 2023 to 403.04 lakh boxes this year, indicating a continuing downward trend in Karnataka's liquor market.

Kadarappa elected unopposed to lead Valagerehalli residents

KENGERI

N. Kadarappa has been elected unopposed as the new president of the Valagerehalli Residents' Union for the year 2025–26. The announcement was welcomed by residents, who said his experience and steady leadership will help solve many local problems.

Along with him, a new team of office bearers was chosen. Nagaraj Hegde will serve as secretary and Satyanarayana T. as treasurer. The vice-presidents are Suresh, A.N. Navaneetha, and Somashekar. Akshata Bhide has been appointed joint secretary, Chetan P as organizing secretary, Subhash Nair as cooperative secretary, and Vinay Hegde as advisor.

Speaking after his election, Kadarappa said the support of residents and office bearers is the strength of the union. He said more than fifty housing complexes and residents from four to five surrounding blocks come under the union's work area. He added that he always listens to people's problems patiently and tries to find practical solutions.

He explained that handling issues like water supply, street lighting, road repairs, drainage, and sewer connections is not easy. It often needs constant follow-up with government officials and service departments. However, he said the union has managed to solve many issues over the years due to teamwork and honest efforts.

Kadarappa also shared that he has been continuing as president for the past nine years because residents trusted his work and approach. He promised to work with the same dedication in the coming year.

Advisor Vinay Hegde praised Kadarappa's role in responding quickly to local infrastructure problems. He also appreciated his efforts in protecting lakes and government land from misuse. Residents expressed hope that the new team will bring faster solutions and better services in the coming months.

B.N. Ravi praised for strong social service

BENGALURU

Social concern is not just a word, it is a way of life, said Sri Siddaramachaitanya Swamiji of Areshankara Math, while praising educationist and social worker B.N. Ravi for his dedicated service to society. He spoke at the Byadarahalli Cluster Level Pratibha Karanji and Kalotsava 2025–26, along with a free health check-up, free surgery camp, and Ayushman Card registration program organized by B.N. Ravi.The Swamiji said a true leader is one who treats people and the environment as his own family. He added that B.N. Ravi is a rare example of such leadership because he works to bring healthcare and support to even the weakest sections of society.

Kunigal MLA H.D. Ranganath said running an educational institution is not an easy task. He appreciated B.N. Ravi and his wife Parvati Ravi for managing Vidya Bhushan International School with dedication. He also praised their involvement in social service, temple activities, and public welfare work.

The event was supported by the School Education and Literacy Department of Bengaluru City District, along with field education and coordination officers. As part of Pratibha Karanji, students took part in competitions like drama, dance, folk shows, singing, devotional songs, speech, and fancy dress.Yeshwanthpur MLA S.T. Somashekar, different Congress leaders, education officers, and social activists attended the program as guests. Several local leaders, school management members, parents, and students also participated.The large gathering showed strong community support for the program. Many people appreciated the free health services and the effort to spread awareness about Ayushman cards.

NORTH BENGALURU LAUNCHES WEEKLY PHONE-IN GRIEVANCE PROGRAM

BENGALURU

To help citizens get quick solutions for daily civic problems, the Bengaluru North Municipal Corporation has started a special weekly phone-in program. Commissioner Pommala Sunil Kumar announced that this program will be held every Friday morning, allowing people to speak directly to officials and share their concerns without delay. This week's phone-in program will take place on November 28, Friday, from 7.00 am to 9.00 am. During this time, residents can call and report various issues they face in their local areas. The main aim of this initiative is to reduce waiting time for complaint resolution and build better communication between citizens and the corporation. People can report problems related to road potholes, damaged roads, faulty street lights, garbage collection, and drain cleaning. Complaints about dangerous tree branches, mosquito breeding, stray dog problems, and poor maintenance of public parks will also be accepted. Citizens can also raise issues about unauthorized banners, footpath encroachments, and e-Khata related services.

Every complaint received during the program will be registered on the Sahaya 2.0 online portal. Once registered, it will be immediately forwarded to the concerned officer for action. The complainant will receive an SMS with the complaint number and the details of the officer handling the issue, so they can track the progress easily.

Residents can contact the control room using the mobile and WhatsApp number 9480685705. They can also call the landline numbers 080-22975936 or 080-23636671. Apart from phone calls, citizens can also use the Sahaya 2.0 mobile application to submit their complaints.

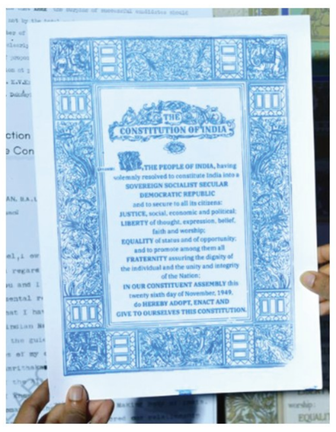
TRANSLATING LEGAL LEGACY

ALF launches Preamble videos in 17 languages

BENGALURU

On Constitution Day, the Alternative Law Forum (ALF) launched a series of videos translating the Preamble of the Indian Constitution into 17 languages spoken across Karnataka. The initiative aims to make the Constitution more accessible to all communities in the state.

In addition to Kannada, the Preamble has been translated into Aravu, Are Bhashe, Byari, Dakhani, Gosangi, Irula, Kodava, Konkani, Koracha, Koraga, Lambani, Malaame, Navaayath, Sanketi, Tulu, and Waghri. ALF hopes



THE CONSTITUTION OF INDIA
WE, THE PEOPLE OF INDIA, having solemnly resolved to constitute India into a SOVEREIGN SOCIALIST SECULAR DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC and to secure to all its citizens: JUSTICE, social, economic and political; LIBERTY of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship; EQUALITY of status and of opportunity; and to promote among them all FRATERNITY assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity and integrity of the Nation; IN OUR CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY this twenty-sixth day of November, 1949, do HEREBY ADOPT, ENACT AND GIVE TO OURSELVES THIS CONSTITUTION.

these translations will encourage more people to read, understand, and use the Preamble in educational and cultural programs.

Ashwini Bodh, ALF lecturer and activist, explained that the standard Kannada version of the Preamble is highly Sanskritised and often difficult to understand. "If the Preamble is available in local languages, communities are more likely to engage with it meaningfully," she said.

The project, part of ALF's larger effort to promote constitutional literacy, began with text translations over the past year. Video production accelerated over the last three months, with more than 45 people contributing through language suggestions, translations, and verification. ALF collaborated with native speakers and experts to ensure accuracy.

The initiative is ongoing, with plans to include languages spoken by Halakki Vokkaliga, Jenu Kuruba, and Yerava communities.

Bodh highlighted the challenges of reaching nomadic tribes, whose scattered locations and low literacy levels make translation difficult but crucial.

ALF continues to invite suggestions for more languages, aiming to make the Constitution accessible to every corner of Karnataka.

Bengaluru couple arrested for fake Nandini Ghee

BENGALURU

CCB Police have arrested Shivakumar and Ramya, the main accused in the Nandini Ghee adulteration case. The couple, running a unit in Tamil Nadu, were producing fake ghee and supplying it to parlours in Bengaluru in packets and bottles. Earlier, police had arrested distributor Mahendra, his son Deepak, and Muniraju. During raids, authorities seized 8,000 litres of adulterated ghee worth ₹1.5 crore and found sophisticated machinery used for production. The arrests mark a major breakthrough in the case, with further investigations underway to track the supply chain and prevent the circulation of counterfeit ghee in the city.

Rowdy sheeter Bakery Raghu nabbed in kidnap case

BENGALURU

CCB Police have arrested Bakery Raghu near Mandya in connection with the kidnapping of businessman Manoj. The abduction happened after Manoj asked for repayment of a ₹1.2 lakh loan given to director Nanda Kishore through rowdy sheeter Rajesh alias Appi. Bakery Raghu's brother Srinivas and his gang, along with Raghu, allegedly kidnapped Manoj near Nelamangala, assaulted him, and took the money. Earlier, six people had already been arrested in the case. Raghu will be produced in court today. Police continue to investigate the crime to ensure all members of the gang are held accountable.

Bengaluru woman dies after mercury injection by husband

BENGALURU

A woman in Attibele, near Bengaluru, has died nine months after her husband allegedly injected her with mercury. Vidya, who filed an FIR on November 23, reported harassment, humiliation, and abuse by her husband Basavaraj and father-in-law Mariswamachari. She said she was often locked inside the house and called "mad." After the injection on February 26, she suffered severe pain and received treatment at multiple hospitals, where doctors confirmed mercury poisoning had damaged her organs. Despite months of medical care, Vidya passed away in November. The couple has a four-year-old child, and police are investigating the case further.

Centre approves NICDP for nine Karnataka districts

Kumaraswamy said integrating districts into the national industrial corridor boosts investment, speeds goods transport and supports growth

BENGALURU

The Central Government has given a positive response to the National Industrial Corridor Development Program (NICDP) proposed by Heavy Industries and Steel Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy. The plan aims to boost industrial growth, transportation, and employment across nine districts of Karnataka.

Union Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal wrote to Kumaraswamy, appreciating the proposal and expressing support for setting up nine industrial parks in Mandya, Mysore, Chamarajanagar, Kolar, Hassan, Mangalore, Hubli-Dharwad, Raichur, and Bidar. Kumaraswamy had met Goyal on November 13, 2025, to discuss implementing a comprehensive industrial corridor scheme to strengthen regional development and infrastructure.

Goyal described the plan as a transformative step for Karnataka's industrial landscape, complementing the Centre's policy of balanced regional growth. The proposed industrial parks are expected to create large-scale employment, improve transport and supply chain linkages, and promote sector-specific industrial clusters. Manufacturing and transportation industries will be prioritized in Hubli-Dharwad and Mangalore, agro-processing in Raichur, and value-added sectors in Mysore and Kolar.

Kumaraswamy highlighted that integrating these districts into the national industrial corridor will attract private investment, facilitate faster transportation of goods, and support equitable growth across the state.

He said the scheme aligns with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of a developed India and strengthens Karnataka's position as a leading industrial hub.

Both ministers emphasized that the NICDP will accelerate industrial progress in all four corners of Karnataka, generating employment opportunities and contributing to sustained economic growth. Kumaraswamy said the discussions were productive, and the Centre's approval marks an important initial step toward implementing this large-scale initiative.

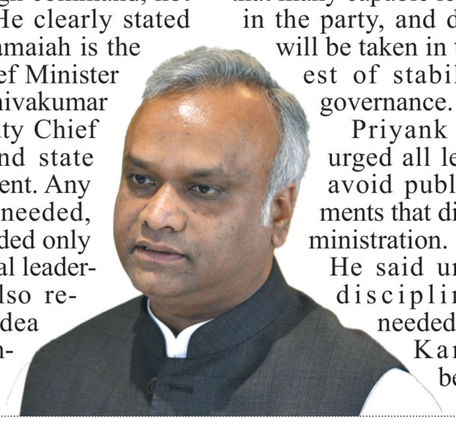
High command to clear Karnataka power confusion

Priyank Kharge said leadership concerns should be addressed to the party high command, reaffirming Siddaramaiah as CM, Shivakumar as Deputy CM, with changes decided centrally

BENGALURU

Minister Priyank Kharge said that the Congress high command will take a final decision on the power sharing confusion in Karnataka during a key meeting scheduled for tomorrow in Delhi. He told the media that senior leaders will discuss the matter calmly and put an end to all rumours and internal doubts.

Speaking in Bengaluru, Priyank Kharge said the meeting will also discuss backward class issues and the recent Bihar election results. After that, the leadership will focus on Karnataka's political situation. He added that AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge will take the final call. He also informed that Mallikarjun Kharge will visit Bengaluru soon to attend a family wedding. Reacting to some MLAs speaking to the media about leadership change, Priyank Kharge said such questions should be raised before the party high command, not in public. He clearly stated that Siddaramaiah is the current Chief Minister and D.K. Shivakumar is the Deputy Chief Minister and state party president. Any change, if needed, will be decided only by the central leadership. He also rejected the idea that the Congress party depends on one person. He said the party existed before and will exist after any leader. He praised party workers for building leaders and said leaders rise because of people's support. He reminded that many senior leaders, including Siddaramaiah, Kharge, DK Shivakumar, and G. Parameshwar, have grown through the party system.



On the power sharing issue, he said talks happened earlier but the final word rests with the high command. He added that many capable leaders are in the party, and decisions will be taken in the interest of stability and governance.

Priyank Kharge urged all leaders to avoid public statements that disturb administration.

He said unity and discipline are needed to serve Karnataka better.

Muniyappa emphasized residential schools as learning hubs and stressed citizens' legal awareness is vital for social progress

Minister Muniyappa urges SC development on Constitution Day

BENGALURU

Food Minister KH. Muniyappa participated in the Constitution Day program at Ambedkar Bhavan, Vasanthanagar, emphasizing the importance of awareness about citizens' rights and laws under the Constitution. He said that reading the Preamble across the country is a good step toward spreading knowledge about constitutional values.

Speaking at the event, Muniyappa highlighted the role of the Hon'ble Chief Minister in promoting equality and ensuring all communities benefit from government schemes. He praised the fair allocation of budgets based on population, and urged that the Rs 43,000 crore earmarked for the Scheduled Castes be fully utilized for community development, especially in education and support through development corporations.

He said residential schools should act as cooperative centers for children, supporting their learning and growth. Highlighting his background as a lawyer, Muniyappa stressed that citizens' awareness of laws and rights is essential for social progress.

He appreciated the Chief Minister's focus on education, particularly the construction of Morarji Desai residential schools in every hobli of the state, which will provide opportunities for students from marginalized communities.

The program was attended by Minister MC Sudhakar, Chief Minister's Political Secretary Nazir Ahmed, Legal Advisor Ponnanna, Corporation Presidents Manjunath, Pallavi, Ashok Salappa, former MLA Venugopal, Department Secretary Randeep, Commissioner Rakesh Kumar, officials, community leaders, and students.

Muniyappa concluded that Constitution Day is a reminder that development and justice go hand in hand, and effective use of resources and education is key to uplifting every section of society.

Rajanna backs Parameshwara for K'taka CM

BENGALURU

Former minister KN Rajanna has voiced strong support for G. Parameshwara to remain Chief Minister of Karnataka, saying any change should still keep him in the top post, Rajanna emphasized Parameshwar's role in bringing the Congress party to power in 2013, calling it a debt that needs recognition. Rajanna contrasted Parameshwar with DK Shivakumar, suggesting that if DK is asking for the CM post, Parameshwara's "old dues" should come first. He questioned the Delhi lobbying by Shivakumar's faction and defended Parameshwara's claim for leadership, stating, "It is not wrong for Parameshwara to ask for the CM post. He brought the Congress to power in 2013. His wages are pending."

He also hinted at tensions within the party, criticizing the DK faction indirectly and calling some of their actions "crazy." Rajanna urged the Congress high command to quickly resolve leadership disputes, warning that failure could lead to government dissolution and fresh elections under DK's leadership.

Despite internal debates, he stressed that everyone must follow the high command's final decision. Rajanna noted that MLAs have been lobbying in Delhi for ministerial positions and indicated that Siddaramaiah is likely to continue as CM, saying he does not expect a change in leadership.Political analysts say Rajanna's comments could influence party unity and signal support for Parameshwara while keeping internal debates in the spotlight as Karnataka prepares for future elections.

BMTC fines electric bus firms, bans drivers from using phones

BENGALURU

The Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) has imposed fines totaling Rs 25 crore on companies operating electric buses in the city for repeated violations of rules and safety norms. The action comes after rising accidents and maintenance issues involving the city's 1,500 electric buses.

Fined companies include NTPC Vidyut Vyapar Nigam Mobility (Rs 9 crore), Switch Mobility Automotive Ltd (Rs 3.05 crore), TML Smart City Mobility Solutions Ltd (Rs 11.90 crore), and OHM Global Mobility Pvt Ltd (Rs 67.25 lakh). The fines cover offenses over multiple years, including 2023-24, 2024-25, and up to September 2025. Violations cited include mobile phone use by drivers, battery problems, and poor maintenance practices. In addition, BMTC has issued a strict order banning drivers from using mobile phones, Bluetooth devices, earphones, or listening to music while operating electric buses. Conductors are required to report any violations to their superiors, and drivers or conductors found disobeying the rules will face disciplinary action. The BMTC's Security and Awareness Director has instructed all depot managers to ensure drivers and conductors are aware of the new regulations. The measures are aimed at reducing accidents, improving passenger safety, and maintaining the operational standards of the electric bus fleet. Authorities emphasized that repeated warnings had been issued before imposing fines, signaling the seriousness of compliance.

The move also highlights BMTC's focus on stricter safety enforcement and accountability among private electric bus operators to ensure safer public transport in Bengaluru.

JUSTICE FOR FARMERS...

Justice Annaiah urges students to read more books

RAMANAGAR : Justice M.H. Annaiah, Principal District and Sessions Judge and Chairman of the District Legal Services Authority, urged students to focus on reading and gaining knowledge to shape a better future. He spoke during the Constitution Day-2025 Legal Awareness Program at Indian Sanskrit Vidyapeeth, organized by the District Legal Services Authority, District Bar Association, School Education Department, and the university.Justice Annaiah highlighted Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's dedication to reading, which enabled him to become the architect of India's Constitution. He encouraged students to think independently, distinguish right from wrong, and contribute meaningfully to society through continuous efforts. He recounted how Dr. Rajendra Prasad appointed Ambedkar as Chairman of the Drafting Committee on December 9, 1946, and how Prem Bihari Narayan Raizada wrote the Constitution by hand over six months. The Constitution, he noted, remains the largest in the world and empowers citizens to approach the Supreme Court if their fundamental rights are violated.

TECH TRICK UNMASKED

ED cracks AI gambling scam, seizes massive funds

BENGALURU

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has seized over Rs 523 crore from two gaming companies accused of cheating subscribers using artificial intelligence (AI).

The companies, WinJo and Pocket-52, allegedly used AI software to simulate online gambling, tricking players into thinking they were competing with humans.

According to the ED, deposits worth Rs 523.57 crore were seized from the companies' accounts in Delhi and Gurugram. Investigations revealed that the firms created AI-controlled accounts, which were paired with real subscribers during gameplay. Players, unaware they were gambling against AI, lost large sums of money.

The fraudulent games reportedly caused losses running into thousands of crores.

The ED had registered separate cases against Winzo Games Private Limited and Nirdesa Networks Private Limited, which operate the apps. Searches at their offices from November 18 to 22 uncovered evidence of AI accounts and money transfers to foreign bank accounts. Winzo allegedly transferred subscriber funds to its US account.

As part of the action, the ED seized bank deposits, shares, and mutual fund investments worth Rs 505 crore from Winzo, while Nirdesa Networks had assets worth Rs 18.57 crore attached.

Authorities say these steps aim to prevent further misuse of subscriber money and curb online gambling scams.

Experts warn that AI-driven frauds are likely to rise as technology grows, urging users to verify apps and exercise caution while participating in online games promising monetary rewards.

The ED has called for stricter monitoring of digital gaming platforms to protect unsuspecting players.

Parameshwara declines to comment on dalit CM discussions

Belagavi

Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara has refused to comment on recent political developments, including the Chief Minister's post and cabinet expansion. When asked by reporters in Belagavi about the ongoing discussions regarding a Dalit Chief Minister, he remained silent, responding only with "Thank you, thank you" before leaving. Dr. Parameshwara said he was heading to Vijayapura to attend the wedding of former MLA Raju Halaguru's daughter. He added that he would return to Belagavi afterward to inspect preparations for the upcoming winter assembly session, including arrangements to ensure law and order during any protests. When pressed further about the Dalit CM issue, he reiterated, "I will speak after returning in the afternoon," and proceeded without commenting on the matter.

ACF caught for accepting bribes in wildlife case

Hassan

An Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) from the Forest Patrol Unit has been caught by the Lokayukta on charges of accepting bribes. The accused, ACF Satish, was staying at a tourist lodge in the Gendekatte forest area of Hassan when Lokayukta officials conducted a late-night raid and apprehended him. It is alleged that Satish first accepted ₹5,000 and later ₹10,000 via Google Pay from astrologer Akhilesh of Arasikere. The money was reportedly taken in exchange for providing favours in a wildlife crime-related case. The Lokayukta department has intensified the investigation and is gathering further details to determine the full scope of the corruption.

Court acquits Murugha Shree in POCSO case after 3-yr trial

The Chitradurga court delivered major relief to Murugha Shree of Murugha Mutt declaring him not guilty in the long-pending POCSO case

CHITRADURGA

In a major development, the court has declared Murugha Shree of Murugha Mutt not guilty in the POCSO case filed against him, offering significant relief after years of legal battle. The case, originally registered on August 26, 2022, at Mysuru's Nazarbad Police Station, involved allegations of sexual harassment made by two minor girls residing in the hostel of Murugha Mutt. After nearly three years of investigation, the Second Additional District and Sessions Court in Chitradurga, presided over by Judge Gangadharappa Channabasappa Hadapad, acquitted him, closing the first case.

The original complaint had named several accused: A1 Murugha Shree, A2 hostel warden Rashmi, A3 Basavaditya, A4 manager Paramashivayya, and A5 advocate Gangadharayya. A day after the case was filed, it was transferred to Chitradurga Rural Police Station, and on September 1, 2022, Murugha Shree and warden Rashmi were arrested. Soon after, another complaint was filed at Nazarbad Police Station on October 13, 2022, by a kitchen assistant from the mutt, alleging harassment of her two minor daughters as well.

Following this, additional accused were added—A6 Mahalinga, an aide of Murugha Shree, and A7 cook Karibasappa. Under the supervision of DySP Anil Kumar, Chitradurga police filed a detailed 694-page chargesheet, submitted in two sets, and later a second chargesheet of 761 pages in January 2023 for the second POCSO case.

During trial proceedings, the High Court granted conditional bail to Murugha Shree on November 8, 2023, and he was released on November 16. However, due to a pending second POCSO case, he was rearrested on November 20 after the Sessions Court denied bail.

Later, after the Supreme Court ordered continued judicial custody until completion of witness examination, he surrendered on May 27, 2024. Once testimony from 13 witnesses—including the two survivors—was completed, the court allowed his release as per Supreme Court directions.

Clashes erupt over torn Tipu Jayanti ribbon

A torn green ribbon tied for Tipu Jayanti sparked violent clashes in Rabkavi Banhatti, with two same-community groups attacking each other

BAGALKOT

A clash broke out between two groups belonging to the same community in Bagalkot district after a green ribbon tied for Tipu Jayanti celebrations was reportedly torn. The incident occurred in Hosur village of Rabkavi Banhatti taluk, where two factions have traditionally been organising separate Tipu Jayanti events every year. As part of the preparations, green ribbons were tied across parts of the town.

Tension escalated when members of one group alleged that a person from the rival faction had deliberately torn the ribbon. Enraged by this, a few individuals barged into the house of the accused and assaulted three members of the same family. The situation worsened when the attackers later entered the hospital where the injured were being treated and allegedly assaulted them again, turning the incident into a coordinated group attack.

The conflict reportedly began earlier over financial clarifications sought from the Anjuman organisation, which created differences between the two factions. What started as a dispute over accounts has now grown into open hostility, culminating in violent confrontations.

The incident took place within the jurisdiction of the Banahatti Police Station. Videos of the two groups physically attacking each other have surfaced on social media, further highlighting the severity of the situation. Police have taken note of the clashes and initiated investigations to determine how the dispute over a torn ribbon escalated into such aggression.

Locals expressed concern over the increasing tension between the two groups, especially since both belong to the same community and have been organising Tipu Jayanti separately for years. The authorities are now working to restore peace in the village and prevent further escalation.

16-year-old girl gives birth in hostel; authorities investigate

KOPPAL

A shocking incident unfolded at a girls' hostel in Kukkanuru, Koppal district, where a 16-year-old student gave birth to a baby while residing at the facility. The girl, who was studying in the pre-metric section, experienced abdominal pain early Wednesday morning around 6 AM and delivered a male child within the hostel premises. Both mother and baby were immediately admitted to the district hospital for medical care.

Following the incident, Koppal District Commissioner Suresh Itnal, Zilla Panchayat CEO Varneeth Negi, and Superintendent of Police Ram Arasiddhi visited the hospital to check on the health and well-being of the mother and child. The Kukkanuru police have registered a case and initiated an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the birth. Lawmakers and officials are monitoring the situation closely.

DC directs identification of shelter sites for stray dogs

CHITRADURGA

Deputy Commissioner B.T. Kumaraswamy has instructed local bodies, including municipal councils, town panchayats, and gram panchayats, to identify separate sites within their jurisdictions for establishing shelters for stray dogs, in compliance with the Supreme Court's directive.

Addressing a meeting at the Deputy Commissioner's conference hall on Tuesday, which included the District Animal Welfare Board and Pranidaya Association, he emphasized implementing Supreme Court orders to control stray dog populations. A committee chaired by the District Commissioner has been constituted to oversee the program, and its members are required to diligently perform their duties.

The Deputy Commissioner highlighted the need for comprehensive sterilization and vaccination drives against rabies, under the guidelines issued by the central government in 2023. Facilities should include surgical rooms, post-operative care rooms, quarantine areas, transport vehicles, and administrative offices. Stray, injured, and orphaned dogs should receive proper treatment at these shelters.

He further instructed all local bodies to establish a dog management fund, conduct a census of stray dogs every three years, and designate two feeding points in every ward. Schools, colleges, transport hubs, sports complexes, and hospitals must be notified to relocate stray dogs to these shelters.

Regular inspections should be conducted, and protective enclosures or compounds must be constructed around the shelters. Government hospitals are required to stock ARV and immunoglobulins and raise awareness about rabies among students. Security personnel should be assigned to sports complexes, and all departments must submit compliance reports to the Supreme Court within the stipulated timeline.

The meeting also approved funding for gaushala management, fodder procurement, and staff salaries. Attendees included G.P. Deputy Secretary Dr. R. Rangaswamy, Urban Development Project Director Reshma Hanagal, D.V.S.P. P.K. Dinkar, Animal Husbandry Department Deputy Director Dr. N. Kumar, Municipal Commissioner Lakshmi, and other officials.

Unidentified woman's body found in Netravati River

BANTWALA

Bantwala police reported the discovery of an unidentified woman's body in the Netravati River on Wednesday morning. Locals noticed the body floating in the river and retrieved it. Authorities estimate the woman to be around 60 years old. The body has been taken to the Bantwala Government Hospital morgue for further examination. Police are urging anyone with information about the deceased or potential next of kin to contact the Bantwala City Police Station. The investigation is underway to determine the cause of death and identify the woman, while authorities continue to gather details from the local community to assist with the case.

Legislative Council polls: BJP, Cong leaders eye for poll tickets

HUBBALLI

The race to secure tickets for the upcoming Legislative Council election from Karnataka West Graduates' constituency is intensifying within both the BJP and the Congress. The constituency, which covers Dharwad, Gadag, Haveri, and Uttara Kannada districts, has been under BJP's hold since 2008, but aspirants from both parties are now gearing up for the next year's polls.

Despite S V Sankanur being the incumbent BJP MLC, over two dozen BJP leaders, including seasoned politicians and newcomers, are seeking the party ticket.

Many are actively engaging in groundwork, such as enrolling voters across the four districts. Notable BJP aspirants include State BJP discipline committee chief Lingaraj Patil, corporators Shivu Hiremath, Rajanna Koravi, Veeranna Savadi, and leaders like Jayateertha Katti, Ravindranath Dandin, Shashishekhar Danganavar, and Kiran Uppar.

A committee of senior BJP leaders has already collected feedback from aspirants, numbering more than 28. Lingaraj Patil, who has decades of experience organising the party and prior consideration for Rajya Sabha and MLC tickets, expressed confidence in securing the nomination, citing his competition with Sankanur.

The Congress is also mobilising strongly to reclaim the seat after 18 years. Several leaders are in contention for the party ticket, with opinion-gathering meetings already underway. Prominent names include KPCC vice-president Mohan Limbikai, a former BJP MLC from this constituency in 2008, as well as R M Kuberappa, Basavaraj Gurikar, and Sadanand Danganavar. Many of these leaders have previously sought electoral positions in the Hubballi-Dharwad West Assembly and Dharwad Lok Sabha constituencies. Both parties are intensifying preparations as they aim to consolidate support and maximise their chances in the 2026 election.

I'm not a saint; I'm a strong contender for minister post: MLA

SHIVAMOGGA

Shivamogga MLA Belur Gopalakrishna has openly stated that he is a strong contender for a ministerial position, asserting that he is not a "saint" to remain quiet without asking for what he deserves. Speaking to reporters at the Shivamogga DCC Bank premises, he said that he has communicated his demand for a ministerial berth to both state and national leaders, making his aspirations clear.

Gopalakrishna urged the party high command to resolve the ongoing confusion surrounding the Chief Minister's post and also expedite decisions regarding the induction of new faces into the Cabinet. According to him, the uncertainty about leadership has created unnecessary disturbance within the state and has even caused damage to the party's image. He stressed that national leaders must step in quickly to settle the issue.

Responding to reports about signature campaigns within the party, he clarified that no one had approached him regarding such efforts. He said he does not belong to any faction or camp and identifies only with the genuine Congress fold. "My loyalty is to the high command," he emphasized.

He also commented on the demands raised by senior Congress leaders—D.K. Shivakumar openly seeking the Chief Minister's post and G. Parameshwara also expressing interest in the position. Gopalakrishna noted that decisions about granting or denying leadership posts lie solely with the party high command. He added that if national leaders decide on leadership changes, the Chief Minister and even ministers could be replaced accordingly.

The MLA's statements highlight the internal tension surrounding Cabinet expansion and leadership debates in Karnataka. During the media interaction, DCC Bank President R.M. Manjunath Gowda, Vice President S.K. Mariyappa, and State Director M. Srikant were present.

DC Gurudatta Hegde says Constitution holds answers to life's doubts

SHIVAMOGGA

Shivamogga Deputy Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde said that the Indian Constitution provides answers to many doubts and dilemmas one may face in life. He was speaking after inaugurating the Constitution Day celebrations held at Ambedkar Bhavan on Wednesday. The event was jointly organised by the district administration, Zilla Panchayat, Social Welfare Department, City Corporation, and the Departments of School and Collegiate Education.

He stressed that everyone, including children, must read and understand the Constitution, as it guides the nation in ensuring equality and justice for all. The DC added that the Constitution has many dimensions that need thoughtful study. During his IAS preparation, each reading of the Constitution gave him new insights and inspiration, he said. Officers, he insisted, must follow constitutional values and treat all people equally.

Dr. Basavarajappa M., a teacher from Karnataka Public School, delivered a special lecture. He recalled that India declared full independence on November 26, 1930, and in remembrance of that historic day, the Constitution was adopted on November 26, 1949. To strengthen civic awareness, the government has introduced programmes encouraging students to read the Preamble.

Understanding the Constitution means understanding Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, he said, adding that every household should keep a copy of the Constitution.

He noted that the draft Constitution took 2 years, 11 months, and 18 days to prepare, resulting in the world's largest Constitution with 22 parts, 395 articles, and 12 schedules. The lecture also highlighted the artwork included in the original manuscript—depicting India's history, culture, mythology, and heritage, from the Indus Valley seal to images of Buddha, Mahavira, the Mughal courts, Shivaji, Rani Lakshmibai, Tipu Sultan, and Mahatma Gandhi.

Several officials, organisation leaders, and students participated in the programme.

YOUTH KILLED BY FRIENDS

Youth killed by friends during early-morning tea outing

MYSURU

Tension gripped Mysuru's Shantinagar locality after a 19-year-old youth was brutally murdered by his own friends during an early-morning outing. The victim, identified as Syed Sufiyan, had stepped out around 5:40 a.m. to drink tea with his friends when the incident took place. The Udayagiri Police have registered a case and launched an investigation.

According to the police, the attackers—reportedly addicted to alcohol—picked a fight with Sufiyan during their tea stop. The argument quickly escalated, and the youth was stabbed multiple times with a knife. CCTV footage shows two of his friends chasing him on the road and attacking him repeatedly. He suffered deep injuries to his chest and back. Shockingly, bystanders who witnessed the assault did not come forward to help, leaving Sufiyan to collapse and die on the roadside.

Sufiyan's parents have alleged that the killers were under the influence of drugs and ganja. They claim that drug misuse among youths in Shantinagar has become rampant, with even young school-going children gaining access to ganja, tablets, and other addictive substances. They said that many local boys roam the area in an intoxicated state every day.

His mother, Shayin Taj, wept inconsolably, stating that her son had gone for morning prayers and later joined his friends for tea, where he was betrayed and stabbed to death. She demanded justice for her son, saying the authorities must act firmly against the drug menace. "If justice is not given, then let them kill us too," she cried.

Family members added that Sufiyan worked at the Kaveri Silk Saree showroom and was helping support the household. The community has expressed concern over the growing drug problem and the increasing violence among youths in the area.

Happy if Dalit leader is given chance to become CM: MLA

Tumakuru MLA H.V. Venkatesh says he supports any power-sharing decision, including appointing a Dalit leader as Karnataka's Chief Minister

TUMAKURU

Tumakuru MLA H.V. Venkatesh has said that he would wholeheartedly welcome the decision if the Congress high command chooses to appoint a Dalit Chief Minister in Karnataka as part of any future power-sharing arrangement. Speaking to the media in Tumakuru regarding the ongoing discussions around the demand for a Dalit CM, he stated that the party should consider giving leadership opportunities to all deserving communities.

Venkatesh said that whether Chief Minister Siddaramaiah continues in office, or Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar is elevated to the top post, or a Dalit leader is chosen as the next Chief Minister, he would be happy with any of these decisions. According to him, strengthening internal democracy and providing representation across communities would reflect the true spirit of the Congress party.

He recalled that in 2013, both he and senior leader G. Parameshwara lost their elections. Had Parameshwara won at that time, Venkatesh said, he would likely have become the Chief Minister. Highlighting the senior leader's long-standing contributions to the party, he expressed his personal wish to see G. Parameshwara occupy the Chief Minister's chair at least once in his political career.

He further added that he would be submitting a formal request to the party high command advocating for Parameshwara's candidature. However, Venkatesh made it clear that he remains fully committed to whatever decision the high command ultimately makes. The MLA emphasized that unity within the party and adherence to leadership directives are more important than individual preferences.

His remarks come at a time when discussions around leadership, representation, and future power-sharing have intensified within the Karnataka Congress. Venkatesh's statement is seen as a reflection of internal party voices seeking broader inclusivity in top leadership positions.

Constitution embodies the essence of all religions: Prof. Nataraj

CHITRADURGA

The Indian Constitution embodies the essence of all religions and focuses on the welfare and progress of humanity, said English professor Prof. Nataraj D.H. during Constitution Day celebrations at Shivasharana Madara Chennayya Sabha Bhavan, organized jointly by the District Administration, Zilla Panchayat, Social Welfare Department, and Urban Development authorities.

Prof. Nataraj outlined the Constitution's history, noting that the British government formed the Constituent Assembly in 1946. Dr. Sachchidananda Sinha served as temporary president, followed by Dr. Rajendra Prasad as assembly president and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar as chairman of the drafting committee. Ambedkar studied over 60 constitutions worldwide to frame India's Constitution.

After 12 sessions over nearly three years, the draft was adopted on November 26, 1949, and came into force on January 26, 1950. Initially comprising 22 parts, 395 articles, and 8 schedules, it now has 25 parts, 448 articles, and 12 schedules.

The original text, handwritten by Prem Behari Narain Raizada, included illustrations by Ram Manohar Sinha and Nandalal Bose reflecting India's history and culture.

Former Minister H. Anjaneya emphasized that people of all religions participated in the freedom struggle, leading to independence and granting real rights and equality to women and marginalized groups. District Guarantee Project Authority Chairperson R. Shivanna added that the Constitution should be respected like a mother, and governments must not violate it.

The celebrations included awards for essay, art, and speech competitions, a display of student artworks, and a vibrant rally led by Sub-Collector B.T. Kumaraswamy. Cultural performances by Morarji Desai Hostel students highlighted constitutional values, spreading awareness across major city roads and concluding at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Circle.

Sports foster competitive spirit among students: City Council prez

RAMANAGARA

Emphasizing the importance of sports in nurturing a competitive mindset among students, City Council President K. Sheshadri (Shashi) stated that athletic competitions help uncover hidden talents and encourage students to represent the district at state and national levels. He urged participating children to showcase their best abilities and bring pride to the district.

Speaking at the inauguration of the 14 and 16-year-old girls' "Khelo India Asmit Athletics League – 2025" organized by the District Athletics Association at the district stadium, Sheshadri highlighted the need to utilize central government sports initiatives effectively. He noted that every participant demonstrating their talent to the fullest could earn opportunities to compete internationally, including the 2036 Olympics. He added that success comes through effort, and every dedicated participant will have a chance to shine.

The event was also addressed by 2003 India World Championship bronze medalist Anjubaby George, who emphasized that the Khelo India Asmit Athletics League provides a platform to identify promising young athletes.

Those excelling at the tournament may progress to state and national competitions, and top performers could be selected for international events, including the Olympics.

Among the dignitaries present were Umesh Babu, President of Ramanagara District Athletics Association; Vice President of the City Council, Ayishabanu; retired Drug Controller Srinivas; Bidadi-Kootagal Block Congress President Gangadhar Gowda; Taluk TPIMS President S. Suresh; Ramanagara Project Authority Director Praveen; District Government Employees Association President Dr. K. Satish; and other officials including Ro Shiva, Satish Tangavel, and Raju.

This event highlighted the crucial role of sports in developing talent, discipline, and a competitive spirit, encouraging students to aspire for higher achievements at state, national, and international levels.

BENGALURU RURAL

The government will observe Disability Week from November 25 to December 1, 2025, as part of World Disabled Day celebrations. Under the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016, opportunities in education, rehabilitation, social security, and employment are provided to integrate persons with disabilities into mainstream society. The act, replacing the 1995 law, recognizes 21 types of disabilities, including physical (locomotor, leprosy-cured, cerebral palsy, dwarfism, muscular dystrophy, acid attack victims), visual (blindness, low vision), hearing and speech impairments, intellectual disabilities, learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, mental illness.

A.B. Basavaraju urges citizens to restpect and uphold Constitutional equality

BENGALURU RURAL

Observing Constitution Day, District Commissioner A.B. Basavaraju emphasized the importance of the Constitution in ensuring equality for all citizens. Speaking at the district-level event held at Ambedkar Bhavan, Devanahalli, organized by the Bengaluru Rural District Administration, Zilla Panchayat, and Social Welfare Department, he paid tribute to the Constitution and its framers by offering floral tributes and explaining its significance.

He highlighted that India's written Constitution, adopted on November 26, 1950, after nearly three years of drafting by Dr. B.R. Ambedkar and other eminent leaders, originally contained 395 articles, 8 schedules, and 22 parts, making it one of the world's largest constitutions. Today, it comprises 467 articles, 25 parts, and 12 schedules. Basavaraju stressed that citizens must exercise their rights responsibly and integrate constitutional principles into daily life.

Dr. Manjula, a political science lecturer, elaborated on the Constitution as India's fundamental law, defining government structure, powers, and citizens' rights and duties. She noted that the Constitution accommodates India's diverse religions, castes, and communities.

The celebrations included awards for students excelling in competitions such as essay writing, painting, and other events promoting constitutional awareness. A "Constitution Awareness Rally" was held from the Tehsildar office to Ambedkar Bhavan, with participation from students, district officials, representatives from the Social Welfare Department, Zilla Panchayat CEO Dr. K.N. Anuradha, police officials, and community leaders.

EDUCATION COMMITTEES IN GP

Official directs formation of education committees in all Gram Panchayats

CHITRADURGA

Dr. K.T. Tippeswamy, member of the Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights, directed the formation of education committees in all gram panchayats, insisting that mandatory review meetings be held every three months. Speaking at a progress review meeting on the Right to Free and Compulsory Education Act (2009) at the Deputy Commissioner's conference hall with school education department officials, he emphasized the need for proactive measures to safeguard children.

Dr. Tippeswamy noted that while women and child protection committees exist at the panchayat level, education committees have not yet been formed. Establishing these committees and organizing "open house" programs can help prevent cases of child marriage, POCSO violations, and underage pregnancies, effectively implementing child protection policies. He instructed officials to ensure that school dropouts are brought back to the mainstream education system, with individual records maintained detailing reasons for leaving.

He highlighted concerns over poor SSLC results in some unaided schools, urging corrective action, particularly to address teacher shortages that affect learning outcomes. Visits to households of out-of-school children revealed some had migrated for labor work in neighboring states; officials were advised to take steps to reintegrate these children into schools.

Dr. Tippeswamy also stressed that playtime must not be reduced for SSLC students, as extracurricular activities are vital for physical and mental development. Schools should equally prioritize academic performance and play. He directed compulsory display of UN Convention on the Rights of the Child information in all schools, implementation of child protection policies by December 15, designation and training of a teacher as child protection officer, and collaboration with other departments to track program outcomes. The meeting was attended by School Education Department Deputy Director M.R. Manjunath, DIET Principal M. Nasiruddin, District Child Protection Officer Veena, and other officials.

Cabinet Approves Pune Metro Phase Two Expansion

New Delhi

The Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved the expansion of the Pune Metro network at a cost of Rs 9,858 crore, Information and Broadcasting Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said. The project includes Line 4 (Kharadi-Hadapsar-Swargate-Khadakwasla) and Line 4A (Nal Stop-Warje-Manik Baug) under Phase-2. This is the second major Phase-2 approval, following Line 2A (Vanaz–Chandani Chowk) and Line 2B (Ramwadi–Wagholi/Vithalwadi), aimed at enhancing connectivity and easing city traffic.

US Embassy Appreciates CBI Cybercrime Action

New Delhi

The US Embassy has thanked India's CBI for helping dismantle transnational cybercrime networks targeting American citizens. In a post on X, the Embassy said the CBI busted an illegal call center and arrested a key operative involved in these scams. It added that both countries are working together through coordinated intelligence and action to prevent future cyber frauds and ensure the safety of US nationals.

PM NARENDRA MODI OPENS SAFRAN ENGINE FACILITY

A major new aviation facility promises growth, jobs and global partnerships

HYDERABAD

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday virtually launched Safran's new Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul (MRO) facility for aircraft engines in Hyderabad, calling India a reliable and trusted partner for global investors. He said investors are "co-creators" in India's growth story and highlighted recent government reforms, including the new labour codes aimed at improving the business environment.

Modi said the new facility, focused on servicing LEAP engines used in popular commercial aircraft, will help create important job opportunities for India's youth. He noted that the country's civil aviation sector is expanding at a rapid pace, with more people flying than ever before. The Prime Minister encouraged Safran to look at designing aircraft engines, parts and propulsion systems within India to further deepen technological cooperation.

The Safran Aircraft Engine Services India (SAESI) unit will be the world's largest MRO centre for LEAP engines. It is expected to become fully operational in 2026 and will significantly strengthen India's own capabilities in the fast-growing aviation sector.

Built with an initial investment of ₹1,300 crore, the facility will support LEAP engines that power major aircraft models such as the Airbus A320 Neo and Boeing 737 MAX. These engines are built by CFM International, a joint venture between Safran Aircraft Engines and GE Aerospace.

India is among the world's fastest-growing aviation markets, with domestic airlines placing orders for more than 1,500 aircraft. Once fully operational by 2035, the SAESI facility will be able to service around 300 LEAP engines every year and employ over 1,000 highly skilled Indian engineers and technicians.

According to the Prime Minister's Office, developing strong MRO capabilities within India will reduce foreign exchange losses, create high-value jobs, strengthen supply chains and support the country's ambition to become a global aviation hub.

World Supports India's Anti-Terror Stand: HM

NEW DELHI

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday said that the Modi government's stand on terrorism is firm and uncompromising, and the world today is recognising and strongly supporting India's efforts against terror. His message came on the anniversary of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, one of the deadliest assaults in India's history.

In a post on X, Shah paid heartfelt tributes to the security personnel who laid down their lives while fighting the terrorists in Mumbai on November 26, 2008. He said terrorism is not a threat to just one country, but a danger to the entire human race. According to him, the sacrifices made by the brave soldiers continue to inspire the nation's fight against terrorism.

Shah recalled that on this day in 2008, heavily armed terrorists launched a cowardly attack on Mumbai, targeting several public places and carrying out extremely cruel acts. He expressed deep respect for all those who lost their lives in the attack, including innocent civilians and security forces.

The home minister emphasised that under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, India follows a strict zero-tolerance policy towards terrorism. He said this clear stand has earned global appreciation and cooperation, with many countries openly supporting India's anti-terror campaigns.

He urged citizens to remember the brave police, commandos and personnel who acted swiftly during 26/11, saying the nation stays united in honouring them and strengthening efforts to end terrorism

Shah added that India's security forces are determined to protect the nation from all threats and ensure that such attacks never happen again.

He also urged citizens to remember the courage shown by police officers, commandos and other personnel who acted swiftly and bravely during the 26/11 siege. Shah said the nation remains united in honouring their memory and in strengthening efforts to eliminate terrorism in all forms.

The minister concluded by reaffirming India's commitment to global peace and collective action against terrorism, stressing that the fight requires international unity and firm political will.

Union Minister Promises Rs Ten Lakh To Villages

HYDERABAD

Union Minister Bandi Sanjay Kumar has promised Rs 10 lakh to villages in the Karimnagar Lok Sabha constituency if they elect BJP-backed candidates in next month's Gram Panchayat elections in Telangana.

Addressing voters, Sanjay Kumar alleged that previous BRS and Congress governments repeatedly misled people by promising funds to Panchayats that unanimously elected their candidates but failed to deliver. In a post on X on Tuesday, he said, "Karimnagar villages: Elect a BJP-backed candidate unanimously and get Rs 10 lakh instantly for development. No delays, no excuses."

The Minister highlighted his ability to allocate funds under the Member of Parliament Local Area Development Scheme (MPLADS) and noted that he had previously mobilised corporate social responsibility (CSR) funds for education and healthcare projects in the constituency.

Mumbai attack victims honored, reaffirm commitment against terrorism

Global Leaders Remember Victims Seventeen Years After 26/11

NEW DELHI

Seventeen years after the horrific 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, global leaders paid tribute to the victims and expressed solidarity with survivors and families. The attacks, carried out by Pakistan-backed Lashkar-e-Taiba terrorists in November 2008, claimed 166 lives and injured hundreds in Mumbai's busiest locations, including the Taj and Oberoi Hotels, Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus, Leopold Cafe, Nariman House, and Cama Hospital.

The US Embassy in India reiterated its commitment to fight terrorism alongside India and highlighted the extradition of 64-year-old Tahawwur Hussain Rana, accused of planning the attacks, as a major step toward justice. In a statement on X, the Embassy said, "We honor the memory of the victims and stand with survivors and families. Rana's extradition advances justice for those lost in the attacks."

Israeli Ambassador Reuven Azar also paid homage, calling the attacks an assault on humanity and emphasizing Israel's enduring support for India. "The shared fight against terrorism strengthens our deep partnership," he said.

French Ambassador Thierry Mathou condemned the attacks and reaffirmed France's unwavering solidarity with India in combating terrorism.

The events of 26/11 unfolded over four days, during which ten terrorists entered Mumbai via sea routes, targeting locations frequented by both locals and foreign nationals. The attacks left lasting scars on the city, including bullet marks at Nariman House and Leopold Cafe, and the memory of Assistant Sub-Inspector Tukaram Omble, who sacrificed his life to capture the lone surviving terrorist, Mohammad Ajmal Amir Kasab.

Kasab was later sentenced to death and executed in 2012, bringing partial closure to one of India's darkest chapters. Global tributes today underscore the continued commitment to fight terrorism and remember the lives lost.

US Embassy Praises India Crackdown On Cybercrime Network

NEW DELHI

The US Embassy in India praised the collaborative efforts of Indian and American agencies in dismantling international cybercrime networks after the recent crackdown on an illegal call centre in Lucknow targeting US citizens. In a statement on X, the Embassy said, "Through coordinated intelligence and decisive action, our agencies are working together to dismantle international networks to prevent future scams and keep our citizens safe."

The Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) confirmed that it has arrested a key absconding operative linked to the Lucknow call centre, which was allegedly part of a transnational cybercrime network. The CBI had registered the case on September 24, 2024, and conducted extensive searches at multiple locations connected to the accused.

Earlier, in September 2024, the CBI had dismantled four illegal call centres operating in Pune, Hyderabad, and Visakhapatnam. The arrested operative was instrumental in establishing and running the illegal call centres, including VC Infrometrix Pvt. Ltd in Pune and Visakhapatnam, and had been absconding since the case began.

VIT Bhopal Students Protest Poor Facilities, University Closes

BHOPAL

VIT Bhopal University in Sehore district, Madhya Pradesh, declared holidays until November 30 following massive student protests over inadequate campus facilities. Officials confirmed the decision on Wednesday after unrest escalated on the night of Tuesday to Wednesday.

Around 4,000 students staged demonstrations at the Ashta-area campus, voicing anger over poor drinking water, substandard food, and unhygienic toilets. Initial attempts by university security to control the situation reportedly failed, with videos showing some first-year students being assaulted outside a boys' hostel further intensifying tensions.

Students also raised concerns over a suspected jaundice outbreak linked to unsafe water, claiming some deaths, though authorities denied any fatalities. Protests turned destructive, with six to seven vehicles, including motorcycles, cars, and a university bus, damaged or set on fire. Reports also mentioned vandalism at the vice chancellor's residence.

Police from five Sehore district stations were deployed to restore order. A university official, requesting anonymity, said, "There had been growing concern among students about suspected jaundice cases after Diwali. No deaths have occurred on campus." Senior police confirmed a heavy force remains on duty to monitor safety as students disperse.

The unrest drew political criticism. Madhya Pradesh Congress president Jitu Patwari condemned the administration and government, noting many students required hospitalisation and calling the failure to provide basic amenities "a crime."

SC Rules Living Separately Not Always Divorce Cause

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court has ruled that a marriage cannot be considered irretrievably broken merely because spouses are living separately. The court emphasised that it is essential to examine who caused the marital breakdown before granting a divorce.

A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymala Bagchi made these observations on November 14 while setting aside a Uttarakhand High Court order that had granted divorce to a man, and directed the high court to reconsider the case.

The bench noted that courts often assume a marriage has collapsed when spouses live apart. It said such assumptions should not be made without examining whether one partner forced the other to live separately. The Supreme Court highlighted that unless there is clear evidence of willful desertion or refusal to cohabit and care for the other spouse, declaring a marriage irretrievably broken can have serious consequences, particularly for children.

The case involved a couple married in 2009 with a son. The woman had appealed after the high court granted divorce to her husband on grounds of cruelty.

Delhi HC Declares Illegal Betting Profits As Crime Proceeds

NEW DELHI

In a landmark judgment, the Delhi High Court has ruled that profits from illegal betting can be treated as "proceeds of crime" under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) if the funds originate from unlawful sources.

The bench, comprising Justices Anil Kshetarpal and Harish Vaidyanathan Shankar, noted that once the source of money is illegal, any profit derived from it carries the same criminal taint. The judges likened it to the "fruit of a poisoned tree," stating that the criminal character of the original funds "continues to travel downstream," even if subsequent activities are not scheduled offences under PMLA.

The ruling followed petitions connected to a 2015 Enforcement Directorate (ED) probe into a large cricket-betting network. According to the ED, the network used offshore platforms, hawala operators, and domestic agents to circulate funds, generating nearly Rs 2,400 crore in a year. Searches revealed cash, documents, and digital evidence showing that key accused controlled access to foreign betting portals through special login IDs.

The accused argued that betting is not a scheduled offence, and profits should not be attached under PMLA. The court rejected this, highlighting that the law's definition of "proceeds of crime" is intentionally broad. It focuses on the illicit origin of funds, making any profit derived from tainted money liable for attachment.

Legal experts say this judgment strengthens the ED's powers to trace illegal money into ventures not explicitly covered under PMLA. It may apply to inflated stock gains, unauthorised businesses, or projects funded by illegal kickbacks.

BIRDS SURGE ODISHA

Over Two Lakh Birds Arrive Chilika Lake

KHORDHA

Chilika Lake in Odisha is witnessing a surge in migratory birds this season, with over two lakh birds recorded so far. The Chilika Wildlife Division has reported sightings of 87 species, an increase from around 60 species during the same period last year.

DFO Amlan Nayak said the early trends indicate a strong migratory season. "This year, more than two lakh migratory birds have arrived. Eighty-seven species have been sighted, compared to around 60 last year. This is a positive sign," adding that it was too early to comment on specific species' presence.

To prevent poaching, the division has strengthened surveillance, especially along vulnerable shoreline areas. Nayak stated, "Two poachers were detected in the Tangi area. One has been caught, and the other is still absconding. Poachers are active near the shores, so we monitor them with drones and patrols. We have zero tolerance for poaching."

The patrolling system has been upgraded to cover the entire shore round-the-clock with support from Chilika Development Authority staff. "We check every possible area to catch offenders. Patrolling is the key to protecting the birds," Nayak added.

Public awareness activities are also planned near the Nalabana Bird Sanctuary. Access to the sanctuary will be limited to small groups as per administrative rules.

Chilika usually records 222-223 migratory species each winter, and officials expect the numbers to rise in the coming weeks. Nayak said, "Most of the birds have arrived. This is a positive sign, and we are fully prepared to protect them."

Delhi Congress Protests Worsening Capital Air Pollution

New Delhi
Delhi Congress leaders on Wednesday held a press meet wearing masks and carrying oxygen cylinders to show how serious the city's air pollution has become. They said the BJP-led government must act quickly to end this "health emergency." The air quality was in the "very poor" range, with an AQI of 335, marking the 12th straight day of polluted air. Delhi Congress chief Devender Yadav said they will submit a memorandum to the Delhi government demanding urgent action.

Gas Tanker Blast Kills Two In Tirupati

Velampadu
Two workers were killed and three others injured when a gas tanker exploded at a tiles factory on Wednesday. Police said the tanker, which was meant to be filled with LPG, blew up around 11.30 am while nitrogen gas was being passed to check for leaks. Sri Kalahasti SDPO Narasimha Murthy said the victims died from severe head injuries. Police are registering a case and investigating the exact cause of the explosion.

Brother Accused Of Killing Sister

Shahjahanpur
A 22-year-old woman was allegedly killed by her brother in Itora Gotiya village after he objected to her talking to male friends over the phone, police said on Wednesday. The victim was identified as Naina Devi. According to SP Rajesh Dwivedi, the accused, Sher Singh, claimed he became angry after hearing recordings on her phone and said she had rejected marriage proposals. When she came to retrieve her phone, he allegedly stabbed her on the neck, leading to her death.

INDIA, VENEZUELA PUSH FOR STRONGER COOPERATION

India and Venezuela held wide-ranging talks to boost future cooperation

NEW DELHI

India and Venezuela on Wednesday held the 5th round of Foreign Office Consultations, where both countries agreed to deepen cooperation in important sectors such as trade, health, pharmaceuticals, digital technology, agriculture, development partnership, culture, and people-to-people ties. The meeting showed both nations' interest in moving their long-standing relationship forward through practical steps and regular engagement.

According to the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), the two sides also renewed their commitment to working together in multilateral forums where they share common interests. Officials from both countries discussed key regional and global issues and agreed to maintain close coordination in international platforms to advance their partnership. The MEA added that the next round of consultations will be held in Caracas on a mutually agreed date.

The meeting was co-chaired by P. Kumaran, Secretary (East) in the Ministry of External Affairs, and Tatiana Josefina Pugh Moreno, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs of Venezuela. India and Venezuela enjoy friendly and warm ties, and both countries hold similar views on many political and economic issues. They also marked 65 years of diplomatic relations in 2024, with embassies functioning in each other's capitals for more than four decades.

The consultations took place weeks after Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal met Venezuela's Minister of Ecological Mining Development during the CII Partnership Summit in Visakhapatnam on November 15. Venezuela expressed interest in expanding economic ties with India beyond oil, including cooperation in critical minerals and attracting Indian investment. Minister Goyal highlighted the need to revive the India-Venezuela Joint Committee Mechanism and said ONGC's ongoing work in Venezuela could open new opportunities in mining and exploration. He also suggested accepting the Indian Pharmacopoeia to support pharmaceutical trade and encouraged boosting cooperation in the automobile sector.

41 naxalites surrender; 32 of them carried ₹1.19 crore bounty

BIJAPUR

The cadres, including 12 women, turned themselves in before senior police officials in Bijapur, citing they were impressed by the government's new surrender and rehabilitation policy

Forty-one Naxalites — including 32 who collectively carried a reward of ₹1.19 crore — surrendered in Chhattisgarh's Bijapur district on Wednesday, marking another major success in the region's anti-Maoist efforts. According to Bijapur Superintendent of Police Jitendra Kumar Yadav, the cadres, among them 12 women, turned themselves in after being influenced by the state government's revised surrender and rehabilitation policy, along with the Bastar police's "Poona Margham" initiative aimed at reintegrating former Maoists into society.

The group included members of the PLGA battalion no.1, various Maoist companies, area committees, platoons, and frontal organisations of the banned CPI (Maoist). Thirty-nine of them were linked to the South Sub-Zonal Bureau and were associated with the Dandakaranya Special Zonal Committee, Telangana State Committee, and divisions spread across Dhamtari, Gariaband, and Nuapada.

All the surrendered cadres affirmed their faith in the Indian Constitution and expressed a desire to lead a peaceful, dignified life within the democratic system. Under the rehabilitation policy, each was given an immediate assistance of ₹50,000.

Several among them carried high bounties, including nine cadres with ₹8 lakh rewards each, three with ₹5 lakh rewards, 12 with ₹2 lakh each, and eight with ₹1 lakh each. SP Yadav said the success of the rehabilitation effort demonstrates how many Maoists are choosing to abandon violence. He urged others still in the movement to return to society without fear, assuring that Poona Margham provides a secure and self-reliant future.

Since January 2024, the district has witnessed 790 surrenders, alongside 202 Maoists killed in encounters and 1,031 arrests. Statewide, more than 2,200 Naxalites have surrendered in the last 23 months.

Kerala Court Sends Padmakumar to SIT Custody for Probe

KOLLAM

A Kerala special vigilance court on Wednesday ordered that CPI(M) leader and former Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB) president A Padmakumar be handed over to the Special Investigation Team (SIT) for two days. The SIT is investigating the missing gold from the Lord Ayyappa temple in Sabarimala. Police said Padmakumar will remain in SIT custody until Thursday evening, after which he must be produced before the court. The SIT, appointed by the Kerala High Court, has accused Padmakumar of listing "gold-plated copper plates" simply as "copper plates" in official records. He was arrested last Thursday and is the eighth accused in the second case linked to the missing gold from the Sreekovil (sanctum sanctorum) door frames. Investigators are currently looking into two related cases—one involving gold missing from the gold-covered plates of the Dwarapalaka idols and another concerning the Sreekovil door frames.

CPI(M) MP John Brittas raised concerns about pension rules and fairness

CPI(M) MP Seeks Clarity on Pension Equality Issues

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

CPI(M) Rajya Sabha MP Dr. John Brittas has written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressing serious concern about what he describes as growing disappointment among senior and super-senior Central Government pensioners. In his detailed letter, he pointed to issues arising from the Terms of Reference (ToR) of the 8th Central Pay Commission (CPC) and a "validation clause" included in the Finance Bill 2025.

He warned that this clause seems to allow retrospective differences in pension benefits based on the date of retirement, which could go against the Supreme Court's principle of pension equality. Citing the landmark 1982 judgment in the D. S. Nakara vs Union of India case, he highlighted that all pensioners form one group and cannot be treated differently based on when they retired. He said such a move would violate Article 14 of the Constitution, which ensures equal protection of laws.

Dr. Brittas also raised concerns that the ToR's description of pensions as an "unfunded cost of a non-contributory scheme" reduces them to a financial burden instead of recognising them as deferred wages and a rightful entitlement. The absence of a clear assurance that past and future pensioners will be treated equally has increased their anxiety, he added.

He pointed out that the newly introduced Unified Pension Scheme promises 50 per cent of the last basic pay as pension, but continues to recover 10 per cent salary contributions and denies key benefits like commutation and family pension, making it less favourable than the Old Pension Scheme.

He also noted that important demands—such as shortening the restoration period of commuted pensions, revising the Fixed Medical Allowance, and granting additional pension between ages 65 and 80—are missing from the ToR. Employees of autonomous and statutory bodies remain excluded as well. Dr. Brittas urged the Prime Minister to strengthen the ToR and clearly protect pension equality to restore confidence among retired employees.

Protests Escalate Across Punjab Challenging AAP Government Policies

CHANDIGARH

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government in Punjab is facing mounting unrest as protests continue across multiple districts over farmers' issues, administrative actions, and governance concerns. The wave of dissent comes ahead of the Samyukta Kisan Morcha's (SKM) statewide rally at Chandigarh's Sector 43, marking five years since the agitation against the now-repealed farm laws.

Tensions first erupted in Ferozepur on November 15 following the murder of RSS volunteer Naveen Arora. AAP MLA Ranbir Singh Bhullar faced angry locals when visiting the family, questioning the party's response. Three arrests have been made, but the main culprits remain at large. On November 18, Ferozepur Rural MLA Rajnish Kumar Dahiya encountered stone-pelting during a park inauguration over delayed development projects. Villagers recalled AAP leaders' earlier remarks encouraging symbolic protests, which have now resurfaced as criticism.

From November 17–19, residents of Jhok Hari Har protested the poor state of the Ferozepur–Muktsar road, prompting intervention by opposition leaders. A similar protest occurred in Mamdot, later resolved by authorities. On November 20, Kharar MLA Dr Charanjit Singh's controversial remark about a "10th pass person" sparked outrage among lawyers and residents, forcing a public apology.

Sangrur lawyers blocked the Ludhiana–Delhi highway on November 22, accusing MLA Narinder Kaur Bharaj of interfering in a land dispute. The incident remains unresolved, with Bharaj dismissing allegations as politically motivated. Farmers also raised concerns after tractor-trolley parts linked to previous protest removals were recovered from a suspended AAP leader's property. Additionally, state electricity engineers, government employees demanding Old Pension Scheme benefits, contractual staff seeking regularisation, and other unions plan ongoing protests. With multiple sectors expressing dissent, the AAP government is under intense scrutiny as public anger continues to grow across Punjab.

India's Constitution Guides Nation With Justice, Says J&K L-G

JAMMU

Jammu and Kashmir Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha said on Wednesday that India's Constitution has served as a strong symbol of equality, liberty and social justice for 76 years. He said the Constitution continues to guide citizens and push the country toward progress. The L-G urged policymakers and officers to follow constitutional values and work to protect the rights of all people.

Sinha said the Constitution has played a key role in shaping India's growth and unity. He stressed that national integrity must be protected and that society should be encouraged to build confidence and self-respect. He said resources should be used to make the nation strong and self-reliant.

The L-G said that after a long wait of 67 years, all provisions of the Constitution became fully applicable to Jammu and Kashmir in 2019. He claimed this step ended years of discrimination and injustice in the region. He added that J&K is now progressing under the principles of social and economic justice laid down by B.R. Ambedkar.

Sinha said his mission in J&K is to improve lives, remove injustice, end the terror ecosystem and ensure that central welfare schemes reach the poorest families. Responding to critics, he said the earlier practice of supporting separatists and troubling patriots has now stopped.

He added that by implementing every part of the Constitution in J&K, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has ensured honour, dignity and pride for all residents of the Union Territory.

Daughter-in-Law Of Pan Masala Owner Dies By Suicide

DELHI

A 40-year-old woman, the daughter-in-law of a prominent pan masala company owner, allegedly died by suicide at her Delhi residence. She was found hanging by her husband on Tuesday and rushed to Safdarjung Hospital, where she was declared dead on arrival. Police said the couple had been living separately due to ongoing marital disputes.

A suicide note and a diary recovered from the scene reportedly mentioned frequent conflicts with her husband. The woman is survived by two children. Her body has been sent for post-mortem examination, and investigations are ongoing. Police have urged families to seek support in cases of prolonged domestic conflict and mental distress.

Uttarakhand CM Leads Preamble Oath On Constitution Day Event

DEHRADUN

Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami led a special ceremony on Wednesday to mark Constitution Day by administering the Preamble oath at Police Lines in Dehradun. He also released the Prosecution Department's magazine and wished citizens on Constitution Day and Law Day, while paying tribute to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar.

During the event, the Chief Minister announced financial support for the Prosecution Department to help spread awareness about the new criminal laws. Assistance will also be given for the department's digitisation and for training officers in local dialects spoken across the state. Dhami said that the prosecution service is a key part of the justice system, helping maintain truth and transparency.

He noted that November 26, 1949, was a historic day when the Constituent Assembly adopted the Constitution of India. Law Day began in 1979 through the efforts of jurist Dr. L.M. Singhvi and the Supreme Court Bar Association. In 2015, Prime Minister Narendra Modi decided to observe the day nationally as Constitution Day, honouring the makers of the Constitution.

Dhami said several major steps are being taken to modernise and strengthen the justice system. He highlighted the new Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita 2023, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita 2023, and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam 2023 as important reforms. Projects such as e-Courts, the National Judicial Data Grid, fast-track courts, teleconferencing, and digital case management are making justice faster and more accessible.

He added that Uttarakhand is upgrading court buildings, improving digital systems, enhancing legal education, supporting young and women lawyers, and has taken important steps like implementing a strict anti-cheating law and the Uniform Civil Code.

POPPY CRACKDOWN

Massive Operations Destroy Illegal Poppy Fields

IMPHAL

Security forces in Manipur have destroyed more than 675 acres of illegal poppy cultivation this month as part of a major anti-narcotics drive, officials said on Wednesday. The action aims to stop large-scale opium production worth several crores of rupees in the state's mountainous regions.

However, an aerial survey on November 24 revealed over 700 more acres of poppy fields still active in Kangpokpi district. Officials said that teams from the Army, Assam

Rifles, CRPF, BSF and Manipur Police carried out coordinated operations between November 11 and 23 across six hill districts—Kangpokpi, Ukhrul, Tamenglong, Chandel, Tengnoupal and Senapati.

Police estimated that 486 acres of the destroyed fields alone could have yielded nearly 4,600 kg of opium. During the operations, forces also demolished around 100 huts used by cultivators and burnt large quantities of fertilisers, salt sacks, spray pumps, herbicides and pipes found at the sites.

Former Chief Minister N. Biren Singh said the expanding poppy cultivation threatens forests, pushes youth into drug abuse and damages the state's environment. Sharing aerial footage on X, he warned that the "Golden Triangle" drug corridor is creeping into India through Manipur. He said massive zones, including forest areas near Mount Koubru, require long-term campaigns for complete clearance.

A Defence spokesperson said operations were carried out under harsh terrain and weather, highlighting the commitment of Assam Rifles and other forces to curb drug-linked financial networks. The state government said the "War against drugs" has reduced identified poppy acreage from over 8,000 acres in 2020, though challenges remain due to the ongoing ethnic crisis and growing drug menace.

Quake of Magnitude 4.5 Hits Indonesia

Jakarta

A mild earthquake measuring 4.5 struck Northern Sumatra on Wednesday, according to the National Center for Seismology. The tremor occurred at a depth of 150 km. Earlier in October, a stronger 6.6-magnitude quake hit West Papua at a depth of 55 km. Indonesia often experiences earthquakes and volcanic activity because it lies on the Ring of Fire, a large zone around the Pacific Ocean known for active volcanoes and frequent seismic movements.

Pakistani Couple Caught Crossing Border Illegally

Bhuj

A Pakistani couple from Sindh was caught by BSF personnel after crossing the border into Gujarat. They were found near pillars 523 and 524 around 2:50 am and later handed over to Balasar police. Identified as Popatkumar Nathu Bhil, 24, and Gauri Gulab Bhil, 20, they had no identity papers and carried only 100 Pakistani Rupees. Police said they claimed to be lovers facing family opposition. They will be questioned further at the Joint Interrogation Centre in Bhuj.

Indian, US Officials Strengthen Talks on Key Economic Issues

Indian envoy discusses major economic priorities in detailed US meeting

WASHINGTON

India's Ambassador to the United States, Vinay Mohan Kwatra, held an extensive discussion with Jacob Helberg, the new US Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, focusing on strengthening economic ties between the two countries. Kwatra congratulated Helberg on taking charge and said their talks covered areas such as a balanced trade deal, strategic trade dialogue, and collaboration in emerging technologies, including artificial intelligence.

Helberg, who assumed office in mid-October, earlier served as an Advisor to the Council of Economic Advisors at the White House. He also founded The Hill and Valley Forum, which connected Silicon Valley leaders with US lawmakers to reduce knowledge gaps on technology and policy. The US State Department noted that Helberg has worked with Congressional leaders on national security concerns involving China. He previously served as Senior Advisor to Palantir Technologies' CEO and invested early in several fast-growing tech companies. Between 2022 and 2024, he was a Commissioner on the US-China Economic and Security Review Commission, pushing for tariffs and stronger industrial independence from China. He also worked with Google as global lead for Search policy and helped establish GeoQuant.

On November 24, Kwatra met US Representative Jay Obernolte, Chairman of the House Science, Space, and Technology Subcommittee. Kwatra said he highlighted growing opportunities for cooperation in science, technology, innovation, and artificial intelligence during their meeting.

Last week, the ambassador met US Senator John Barrasso and discussed the main factors driving the India-US strategic partnership. Kwatra said they spoke about building a fair trade arrangement, boosting oil and gas trade, and strengthening defence and security ties.

Earlier in October, Union Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal said India and the US were making steady progress toward a fair and equitable trade agreement, with officials from both sides engaged in continuous discussions.

South Korea Reaffirms Gradual, Peaceful North Korea Policy

SEOUL

South Korea's Unification Minister Chung Dong-young said on Wednesday that the government will follow a peaceful and gradual approach in its North Korea policy, easing concerns about any radical direction toward Pyongyang. He made the remarks during a meeting with Kim Jong-hyuk, president of the United Christian Churches of Korea, where church leaders expressed worry that the liberal administration might be overly lenient with the North.

Chung firmly rejected these concerns, stating that the government cannot consider "shocking or radical methods" in its dealings with North Korea. He explained that even strong ideas cannot succeed without public support and added that extreme policies would only create public hostility.

He said the government continues to follow three long-standing principles of past liberal administrations — peaceful, phased and gradual methods. Since taking office in June, President Lee Jae Myung has pledged to restart dialogue and build reconciliation with Pyongyang. Last week, the defence ministry suggested holding military talks with the North to clarify the Military Demarcation Line (MDL) and prevent accidental border clashes. So far, North Korea has not responded. On November 20, the ruling Democratic Party urged Pyongyang to accept the proposal, saying it would help reduce tensions along the border.

South Korea stresses calm, step-by-step engagement with North Korea, rejecting fears of any sudden or aggressive policy shift under President Lee Jae Myung's administration.

The issue has gained urgency as North Korean soldiers have repeatedly crossed the MDL while working near the border, sometimes while armed. South Korea responded by issuing warnings and firing warning shots when boundary violations occurred.

If accepted, the talks would be the first military dialogue between the two Koreas since 2018. Since 2000, the two sides have held two ministerial-level meetings, 40 working-level sessions and several general-level military talks, though progress has often stalled due to rising tensions.

Taiwan Announces Major Defence Budget Increase

TAIPEI

Taiwanese President Lai Ching-te has unveiled plans to seek a USD 40 billion supplementary defence budget to counter growing military pressure from China. In an op-ed published in the Washington Post, Lai said Taiwan remains committed to peace in the Indo-Pacific region, even as Chinese forces frequently enter its vicinity and conduct drills across the first island chain from Japan to Borneo. He warned that China's expanding military activities in the Taiwan Strait and wider region show how fragile peace has become.

Lai said the new budget will support major US arms purchases and strengthen Taiwan's "asymmetrical capabilities," including development of the Taiwan Dome, an advanced air-defence system designed for high-level detection and interception. The proposed budget will be spread over eight years, from 2026 to 2033, and follows Lai's earlier pledge to raise defence spending to 5 percent of Taiwan's GDP in response to continued Chinese threats.

The move also comes at a time when the US administration under President Donald Trump has pressed defence partners, including Taiwan, to increase their own military spending. Lai said the upgraded capabilities aim to raise the cost and risk for Beijing if it considers using force.

China condemned the move, with officials accusing Lai of "selling out Taiwan" and reaffirming that Taiwan is part of China. Tensions rose further after Japan hinted at possible military involvement in a Taiwan conflict, prompting Beijing to halt seafood talks and demand Tokyo clarify its stance.

IMF Criticises Pak over Fiscal Gaps and Transparency Issues

ISLAMABAD

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has strongly criticised Pakistan for its weak financial management and lack of transparency in handling public money. The IMF said Pakistan continues to show serious problems in budget planning, spending control, and coordination between key financial institutions. This criticism comes even as the country is working under its 24th IMF programme with the Ministry of Finance. The IMF's Governance and Corruption Diagnosis Assessment (GCDA) stated that Pakistan has long struggled with "weak budget credibility." This means the government often fails to follow its own budget plans, leading to delays in development projects and higher costs. The IMF was also concerned about the poor monitoring of state-owned enterprises and public investment, which increases the risk of corruption and misuse of authority.

The Fund pointed out a major issue in Pakistan's Single Treasury Account (TSA) system, which is meant to manage government money in a transparent manner.

India France Air Forces Conduct Joint Exercise Garuda

PARIS

The Indian Air Force (IAF) and French Air and Space Force (FASF) are conducting the 8th edition of the bilateral air exercise, Garuda 25, at Mont-de-Marsan in France, showcasing advanced operational skills and cooperation. The exercise, which runs from November 16 to 27, focuses on enhancing interoperability, exchanging best practices, and strengthening defence ties between the two countries.

According to the IAF, the exercise has seen Su-30MKI fighter jets from India and Rafale aircraft from France performing coordinated missions, including air-to-air combat, air defence, and joint strike operations. The exercise maintains a high operational tempo, emphasizing professionalism, precision, and teamwork to foster effective cooperation in complex simulated scenarios.

The Ministry of Defence stated that airlift support is being provided by the C-17 Globemaster III for the induction and de-induction phases, while IL-78 refuelling tankers extend the operational range and endurance of participating aircraft. This allows both air forces to conduct extended missions, refining tactics and procedures in a realistic operational environment.

Exercise Garuda 25 also offers opportunities for professional interaction and knowledge sharing between personnel of both countries. According to the IAF, the exercise enables mutual learning, strengthens defence cooperation, and deepens strategic partnerships through practical operational experience.

Participation in the exercise demonstrates India's commitment to engaging constructively with friendly foreign air forces, promoting mutual understanding, and enhancing joint operational capabilities.

Sindh Healthcare System Suffers From Long-Term Neglect

KARACHI

Sindh's public healthcare system continues to struggle even after seven decades of Pakistan's independence.

Most district hospitals still lack essential diagnostic and emergency facilities, exposing major gaps in governance, planning, and medical management.

Despite receiving budgets for medicines, hospitals remain dependent on Karachi's main centres due to the absence of key services.

In 2000, the government proposed affiliating four district hospitals with Dow Medical College to upgrade them into teaching hospitals.

The plan required senior professors from Dow to treat patients in district facilities.

However, the proposal was never implemented. As a result, district hospitals still offer only basic treatments and routine tests.

Services such as MRI, CT scans, PET-T, and colour Doppler are unavailable, pushing thousands of patients toward Karachi's Civil Hospital and Jinnah Postgraduate Medical Centre, which handle nearly 6,000 outpatients daily.

Hospitals in New Karachi, Liaquatabad, Korangi, Saudabad, and Ibrahim Hyderi operate without major diagnostic tools.

Rural health centres and maternity homes face similar shortages, causing delays in diagnosis and heavier pressure on tertiary hospitals.

Patients shared painful experiences.

Muhammad Aslam from New Karachi said he was referred to Jinnah Hospital for an MRI but received a month-long waiting date, forcing him to spend Rs 20,000 at a private centre.

Aliya from Malir described how her sister, suffering from uterine cancer, had to depend on charity for tests because Saudabad Hospital lacked MRI and biopsy services.

Hospital officials confirmed the situation, noting that machines bought earlier still lie unused and trauma centres remain closed due to staff shortages.

The deepening crisis in Sindh reflects Pakistan's larger healthcare failures, where corruption, indifference, and weak administration continue to deny poor patients timely and basic medical care.

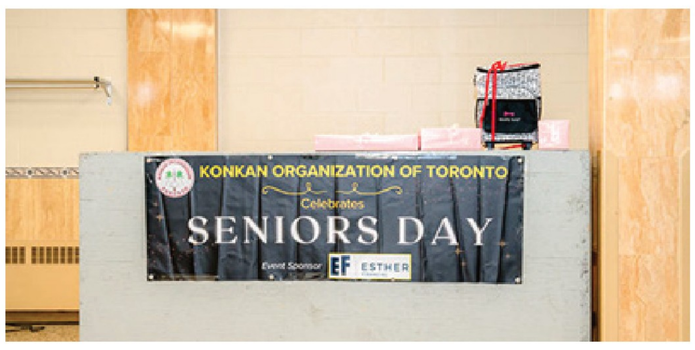
SENIORS DAY

KOT Hosts Seniors Day Celebration Successfully

TORONTO

The Konkan Organization of Toronto (KOT) hosted its second Seniors Day event at St. Philip Neri Church in North York. The programme aimed to celebrate senior members of the Konkan community and provide them with useful guidance on cybersecurity, legacy planning, taxes, mental health, and international finance. The event also highlighted community bonding through a Konkani Mass and traditional Mangalorean food.



The programme opened with a welcome by Emcee Gerry D'Mello, followed by remarks from KOT president Melwyn Sequeira. He stressed the importance of supporting seniors, who often deal with scams, limited awareness of financial benefits, and mental health challenges. He reaffirmed KOT's commitment to ensuring their safety and well-being.

The first session, led by Chethan Bharadwaj, focused on cybersecurity and warned seniors about fraud attempts through unknown messages and urgent financial requests. The second session, by Eric Orr, explained legacy planning and ways to reduce estate taxes, including naming beneficiaries and preparing multiple wills.

A Konkani Mass celebrated by Fr Henry Alva, along with deacons Terrence Rebello and Sarfaraz Pinto, brought the community together before lunch featuring dishes prepared by Mango Mirchi and KOT members.

After lunch, Nelson D'Costa spoke about international money transfers and clarified tax rules under Canada's reporting laws. The final session by Nikki Barruh stressed mental wellness, encouraging fitness, mindfulness, and social interaction.

A vote of thanks by Communications Coordinator Anoushka Dias acknowledged priests, volunteers, speakers, choir members, and food contributors. KOT also expressed special gratitude to Manoj D'Cunha for coordinating food and sessions, making the event memorable for all attendees.

Revanth Reddy seeks defence corridor for Hyderabad

Revanth Reddy hailed the ₹1,300 crore project as a milestone, creating 1,000+ jobs and boosting local businesses

HYDERABAD

Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Wednesday urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to declare the Bengaluru–Hyderabad stretch as a defence and aerospace corridor, saying it will strengthen India's Viksit Bharat vision and boost high technology manufacturing.

He made the appeal while inaugurating Safran's largest Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul centre for CFM LEAP aircraft engines in Hyderabad. The Safran Aircraft Engine Services India facility is coming up at GMR Aero-Park near Shamshabad and is expected to become operational in 2026.

Revanth Reddy said the project marks a major milestone for the state's aerospace journey. Built with an investment of around ₹1,300 crore, the centre will employ more than 1,000 skilled engineers and technicians. It will also create fresh business opportunities for local MSMEs and precision engineering companies.

The Chief Minister also laid the foundation stone for Safran's M88 military engine MRO facility, which will support the Indian Air Force and the Navy. He said Hyderabad has already grown into a strong defence and aerospace hub with over 25 global companies and more than 1,500 MSMEs working in this sector.

He highlighted that Telangana's aerospace and defence exports doubled last year, touching ₹30,742 crore in just nine months and crossing pharma exports for the first time. He added that the state has won the Best State Award for Aerospace several times.

Revanth Reddy stressed that skilled manpower is key to future growth. Telangana has upgraded 100 ITIs into advanced technology centres and launched the Young India Skills University to train youth in aircraft maintenance and advanced manufacturing.

He invited Safran to join hands in skilling programmes and also invited the Prime Minister to attend the Telangana Rising 2047 Global Summit in December at the upcoming Bharat Future City. He said the proposed corridor will link industries, research centres and airports, helping India build a strong, self-reliant aerospace supply chain for future growth.

Empowering youth with future digital skills

New delhi

Nasscom Foundation and IBM have joined hands to help 87,000 young people from marginalised communities gain useful digital skills. Through this partnership, students will access IBM SkillsBuild, a free platform offering simple, hands-on courses in AI, cybersecurity, cloud tools, data work, and workplace skills. Nasscom Foundation will guide learners closely to keep them engaged and confident. The programme blends online lessons with projects, mentorship, and support from universities and local partners. These efforts aim to prepare youth for real jobs and give them clearer paths into India's growing digital workforce, opening doors to stronger futures for them and their communities.

Sebi plans easier rules for lost certificates

New delhi

Sebi has proposed raising the limit for simplified paperwork when investors request duplicate security certificates. The threshold may increase to ₹10 lakh from the current ₹5 lakh to reduce confusion caused by different documentation demands from companies and their registrars. Sebi said investors often struggle because requirements are not standardised. The earlier limit was fixed years ago, when the market was smaller. Since then, India's markets have grown in value, participation, and portfolio sizes. The relaxed rule would let more investors avoid filing FIRs, police complaints, court orders, or newspaper ads, making the process faster and easier.

India's earnings surge boosts Nifty towards 29,000

Mumbai

India is entering a much-awaited earnings upgrade phase, driven by strong corporate results, festive demand, supportive policies, and an improving economy, according to a report. Nifty earnings have risen 0.7–1.3% for FY26–28 after five quarters of declines. The index has gained 4% in three months, reflecting growing investor optimism. Corporate sales rose 8.1%, with profits up 16.4%, surpassing estimates. Key sectors performing well include banks, healthcare, consumer goods, automobiles, defence, cement, and telecom. With GST rate cuts boosting spending and ongoing capital expenditure, Nifty is projected to reach 29,094, signaling a revival in India's market and corporate growth.

Delayed MSME payments fall with strong policies

NEW DELHI

The amount of delayed payments owed to India's micro, small and medium enterprises has shown a steady fall, offering hope to millions of small business owners. A new report says overdue payments dropped from Rs 10.7 lakh crore in 2022 to Rs 7.34 lakh crore by March 2024, after adjusting for inflation. In 2023, the figure stood at Rs 8.27 lakh crore.

The report was prepared by the Global Alliance for Mass Entrepreneurship, FISME and C2FO India. It was released in the presence of Chief Economic Advisor V Anantha Nageswaran and MSME Ministry Joint Secretary Ateesh Kumar Singh. Nageswaran said the use of the TReDS platform for invoice discounting has grown strongly, reaching Rs 2.4 lakh crore from almost zero earlier. He added that while progress is clear, efforts must continue without slowing down.

Ateesh Kumar Singh pointed out that MSMEs still struggle to get enough, timely and low cost credit. He said gaps exist across gender, region, law and business sectors, and these must be studied deeply to find real solutions.

The report suggested several steps to further reduce payment delays. It called for strict use of Section 43B to penalize late payers and for making names of repeated defaulters public. It also asked the government to make TReDS the main payment platform by linking it with GST and Udyam records.

It recommended faster dispute settlement through stronger Facilitation Councils and institutional arbitration. It also urged reforms in bank stress labels to avoid blocking healthy firms. The report further stressed the need for digital loans using GST and UPI data and improving the Samadhaan portal with automation and updates.

Minister praised MCA for modernizing laws, advancing insolvency reforms, and strengthening corporate governance and trust

Sitharaman calls for faster modern governance reforms

NEW DELHI

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said India modernise systems and simplify processes to reach developed nation status by 2047. She spoke during a review meeting of corporate offices and regional directorates held in the national capital recently.

Sitharaman said governance today should be easy transparent and focused on helping people and businesses without unnecessary delays. She asked Ministry of Corporate Affairs to become more forward looking and deliver services to stakeholders on time. Union Minister of State Harsh Malhotra and senior officers of the ministry also attended the important discussion meeting.

The Finance Minister praised MCA for updating company laws and rules to match changing economic and business conditions. She mentioned the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code as a reform helping companies resolve financial stress in cleaner ways. Sitharaman said better corporate governance improved public trust by sharing clear and transparent financial information with citizens nationwide.

She also highlighted MCA role in guiding companies to follow proper rules and maintain strong internal governance structures.

Malhotra reminded officials about prime minister vision of maximum governance and minimum government for faster public service delivery. He said regular talks with stakeholders will help solve problems quickly and improve overall trust in government processes. The MCA Secretary shared that enforcement manuals are now standardised and further rule simplification is already under progress.

Sitharaman also directed the ministry to create a live dashboard for improving transparency and monitoring daily performance levels. She told officials to explain rules clearly to businesses and citizens using simple language and easy communication methods.

The minister urged frequent internal discussions to find new ideas for improving ease of doing business across India.

ICAR denies bias in gene edited rice trials

NEW DELHI

The Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) has strongly denied claims that it showed bias while evaluating two gene edited rice varieties, Pusa DST-1 and DRR Dhan 100, also known as Kamala. The clarification came after a group called the Coalition for a GM-Free India accused ICAR of unfair testing in national trials conducted during 2023 and 2024.

ICAR said these claims are misleading and not based on proper science. It explained that rice varieties are not designed to perform the same in all parts of India. Instead, each variety is meant for specific regions where climate and soil conditions suit it best. The coalition had wrongly compared results from all over the country, which ICAR called incorrect and unrealistic.

The council shared details about its long-standing testing system. Every year, over 1,200 new rice varieties are sent to around 100 trial centers across India under a blind coding method. This means the names of varieties are hidden during testing to avoid any bias. These trials run for two to three years to check yield, quality, and resistance to drought or disease. This system has been followed since 1965.

ICAR also pointed out that more than 1,750 rice varieties have been released using this process in the past decades.

Out of these, 350 varieties are now grown on about 47 million hectares of farmland across the country, helping millions of farmers earn better incomes and grow stronger crops.

The two gene edited rice varieties were tested mainly in South Indian states, which match their target performance zones. According to ICAR, both varieties have shown better yield and stronger tolerance to stress in these areas.

Government auctions three coal blocks for investments

NEW DELHI

The Ministry of Coal has successfully auctioned three coal blocks located in Jharkhand and Odisha under the 13th round of commercial coal mine bidding. According to an official statement, these auctions are expected to bring in an investment of around Rs 7,350 crore in the coming years.

The three coal blocks are Pirpainti Barahat and Dhulia North in Jharkhand, and Mandakini-B in Odisha. Damodar Valley Corporation emerged as the highest bidder for all three blocks. Together, these mines hold geological reserves of about 3,306.58 million tonnes of coal and have the capacity to produce up to 49 million tonnes per year at their peak.

The government said these blocks are likely to generate annual revenue of nearly Rs 4,620.69 crore and create about 66,248 job opportunities, mainly in coal-bearing regions. This is expected to help local communities by providing more work and improving economic activity.

Since commercial coal mining started in 2020, a total of 136 coal blocks have been auctioned across the country. These blocks have a combined production capacity of over 325 million tonnes per year. Once all of them become operational, they are expected to reduce India's dependence on imported coal and support the goal of becoming self-reliant in the energy sector.

The 13th round of coal block auctions was launched on August 21, and the forward bidding process took place between November 20 and November 25. The process was done online in two stages, starting with technical evaluation and followed by competitive price bidding.

The ministry said recent reforms have made coal mining more transparent and open. Private companies can now mine coal for commercial sale, instead of only for their own use. These changes aim to boost production, attract investment, and strengthen India's coal sector for the future.

Seoul plans special body for US investment

SEOUL

South Korea has announced plans to set up a special government corporation to manage its massive 350 billion dollar investment in the United States. This move follows a recent tariff agreement between Seoul and Washington aimed at boosting economic ties and reducing trade barriers.

The proposed body, to be called the Korea United States Strategic Investment Corporation, will manage a special fund and is planned to operate for up to twenty years. A special bill for its creation has been introduced by the ruling Democratic Party.

Under the agreement, South Korea will invest 200 billion dollars in cash over time, with a yearly limit of 20 billion dollars. An additional 150 billion dollars will support joint shipbuilding projects between the two countries.

In return, the United States has agreed to cut tariffs on South Korean cars from 25 percent to 15 percent. The reduced rate will apply from the month the bill is submitted, and Seoul has requested Washington to publish this decision quickly.

India Slovenia push for early EU trade

NEW DELHI

Officials from India and Slovenia reviewed trade, explored deeper economic ties, with Saket Kumar and Peter Japelj co-chairing, also discussing future investment opportunities with Rajesh Agrawal

India and Slovenia have expressed strong hope for the early completion of a balanced and mutually beneficial India–European Union Free Trade Agreement. This was shared during the 10th meeting of the India–Slovenia Joint Committee on Trade and Economic Cooperation held in New Delhi on Wednesday.

Officials from both countries reviewed the current trade situation and discussed ways to deepen economic ties. The meeting was co-chaired by Saket Kumar from India's Ministry of Commerce and Peter Japelj from Slovenia's Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs. Japelj also met Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal to talk about future trade and investment opportunities.

The Commerce Ministry said trade between India and Slovenia has been growing steadily over the past few years. This shows the strong and stable partnership between the two nations. Slovenia's central location in Europe was highlighted as a big advantage. It connects Central Europe with nearby regions and can help India expand its reach across European markets.

Both sides discussed cooperation in many important sectors. These included agriculture, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, health, transport, energy, tourism, MSMEs, Ayurveda, and traditional medicine. They also spoke about working together in technology, innovation, and improving trade connectivity.

The meeting also included talks on the current global and domestic economic situation. Officials reviewed how changing world conditions are affecting trade and how both countries can support each other during uncertain times.

India reaffirmed its commitment to building a strong and long-term economic partnership with Slovenia. The focus will be on trust, shared values, and steady cooperation. The meeting ended with both countries agreeing to stay in close contact and move ahead with clear goals.

The ministry said this strong engagement will also help India strengthen its ties with the larger European region. It added that early completion of the India–EU FTA will open new doors for businesses, create jobs, and support growth in both countries.

Mall operators eye strong growth through expansion

NEW DELHI

India's mall operators are expected to record steady revenue growth of 12 to 14 percent in the current financial year, according to a new report by Crisil Ratings. This comes after a strong 14 percent rise in revenue last year, showing the sector's growing strength and recovery after earlier slowdowns.

The main reason behind this growth is the expansion of new malls and the smooth integration of properties acquired in the last two years. Operators are also benefiting from regular rental increases and better use of available space. Crisil said this growth trend is likely to continue in the next financial year as well, supported by strong performance and controlled debt levels.

The report added that supportive government policies and economic factors are helping consumer spending. These include GST rate cuts, steady economic growth, low inflation, lower interest rates, and a good monsoon, all of which encourage people to spend more in shopping centres.

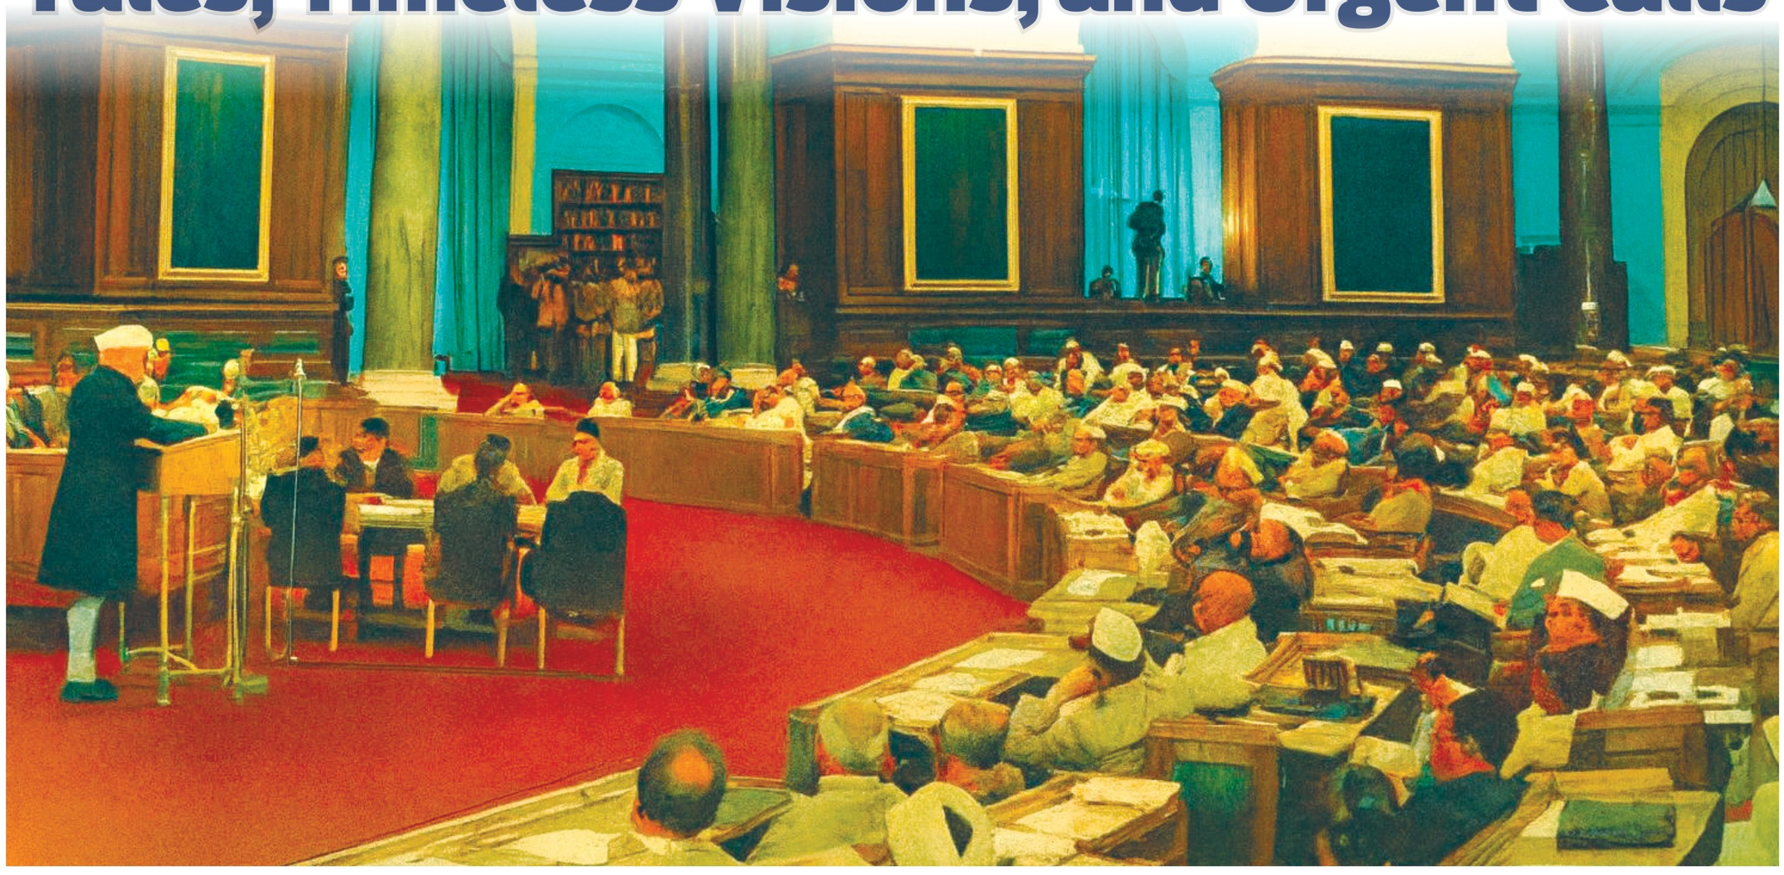
Occupancy levels in malls have also improved. Last year, average occupancy rose by 3.5 percent to reach 93.5 percent. It is expected to touch 94 to 95 percent in both this year and the next. This rise is mainly due to better management of space in malls that were recently built or bought by large groups.

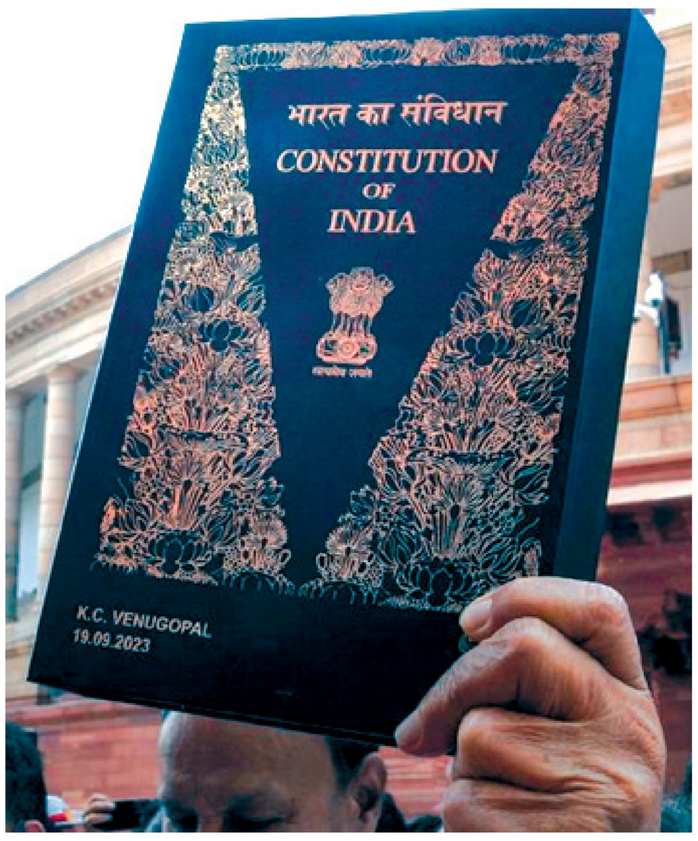
According to Gautam Shahi from Crisil Ratings, major mall developers and REITs have added about 3 million square feet of retail space in the last two years, mainly in Tier 2 cities. This expansion is part of their long-term growth and diversification plans.

He further said that another 4.5 to 5 million square feet of retail space is likely to be added by the year 2027. This additional space could improve annual revenue growth by about four percentage points.

The Enduring Tapestry:

76 Years of India's Constitution – Untold Tales, Timeless Visions, and Urgent Calls





As the winter sun rises over Parliament House, where the debates of 1946–49 still seem to echo, India celebrates its 76th Constitution Day. On this day in 1949, the Constituent Assembly adopted the document that gave the world its largest democracy. Today, amid fierce debates on social justice, federalism, digital rights, and institutional trust, the Constitution remains not a museum piece but a living guide. This 3,000-word feature explores its dramatic making, its visionary architects, its remarkable length, its evolving amendments, and its relevance in 2025.

The Making of the Indian Constitution: Untold Stories from the Constituent Assembly

The Constitution was not drafted in calm seclusion. Between December 9, 1946, and November 26, 1949, 299 members met for 165 days across 2,973 hours in what is now the Central Hall of Parliament. They were lawyers, poets, revolutionaries, princes, and farmers—many still reeling from Partition's horrors.

Late-night arguments in committee rooms were as crucial as public sessions. A lesser-known member from Punjab pushed hard for land reforms that later shaped the Directive Principles.

Another quietly ensured rural realities found space in a document otherwise dominated by urban elites. Drafting Committee members sifted through more than 7,000 proposed amendments, often clashing over secularism, emergency powers, and a uniform civil code.

One member famously warned during a debate on emergency provisions, "We are forging chains for our own liberty"—a prophetic remark that would haunt the nation in 1975. Another smuggled ideas from Irish and Canadian models while fiercely rejecting colonial remnants. The final product was a revolution achieved without bloodshed: colonial subjects transformed into sovereign citizens through argument, compromise, and extraordinary foresight.

Women in the Constituent Assembly: Their Role and Legacy

Only fifteen women sat in the Assembly—just five percent—yet their contributions were monumental. One became the first Health Minister and insisted on maternity relief and women's health in the Directive Principles. A lone Muslim woman member rose to oppose separate electorates, declaring that differences must be sunk for the larger good—an argument that helped cement Article 14's guarantee of equality.Another fought for Hindu women's inheritance rights, laying the groundwork for the 1956 Hindu Succession Act. One more ensured the Universal Declaration of Human Rights spoke of "all human beings" rather than "all men," and brought the same spirit home. A future diplomat infused the debates with global perspective, while an educationist from the south built institutions that still empower women. Their proposals for women's reservation in legislatures were rejected at the time, yet female voter turnout has now surpassed men's in many states. From triple talaq abolition to rising political participation, their quiet persistence continues to ripple through Indian democracy.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's Vision: How Relevant Is It in Today's India?

Dr. Bhimrao Ramji Ambedkar, Chairman of the Drafting Committee, saw political democracy as meaningless without social and economic democracy. He warned that caste hierarchy would destroy the nation unless deliberately dismantled. Articles 14–18 on equality and the abolition of untouchability remain his direct imprint. His caution that a Constitution is only as good as the people who work it rings truer than ever when over 50,000 crimes against Dalits are recorded annually and economic inequality rivals the Gilded Age.

His push for land reform, education, and inter-caste marriage as tools of emancipation still awaits full realisation. The dream of fraternity he placed at the heart of the Preamble feels especially urgent in an age of polarisation and online hate.

Yet reservations, affirmative action, and expanding educational access have lifted millions—proof that his roadmap still works when followed. In 2025, as India debates AI ethics, climate justice, and wealth redistribution, Ambedkar's emphasis on liberty, equality, and fraternity offers the clearest moral compass available.

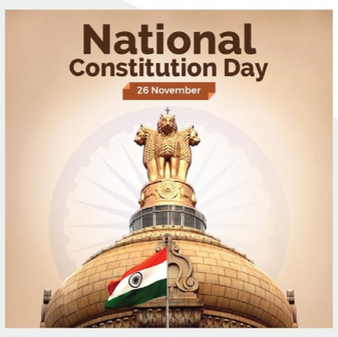
Ambedkar's Legacy: The Compass for Today's India

- Ambedkar linked democracy to essential social and economic equality.
- Caste hierarchy threatens national unity without deliberate dismantling.
- Articles 14–18 reflect Ambedkar's fight for equality.
- Crimes against Dalits show his warnings remain relevant.
- Land reforms and education remain critical unfinished democratic tasks.
- Fraternity vital amid polarisation and growing online hate.

HOW INDIA'S CONSTITUTION BECAME ONE OF THE LONGEST IN THE WORLD

India's Constitution originally contained 395 articles and eight schedules; today it exceeds 470 articles and 146,000 words—longer than the constitutions of the United States, France, and the United Kingdom combined.

The length reflects India's complexity: a country of immense linguistic, religious, and cultural diversity emerging from colonial rule and Partition violence needed detailed safeguards. Federal relations between centre and states, lists of subjects, protections for scheduled castes and tribes, and an entire part on Directive Principles all demanded space. Emergency provisions, amendment procedures, and schedules for languages and territories added further bulk.Critics call it verbose; defenders say its detail has allowed the nation to adapt without violent rupture for seventy-five years. Every major social challenge—land reform, reservation policy, panchayati raj—found constitutional anchoring rather than requiring revolution.



Constitutional Amendments That Shaped Modern India-
More than 106 amendments in 75 years testify to the Constitution's flexibility. The First Amendment (1951) curbed free speech to prevent hate; the 42nd (1976) added "socialist" and "secular" to the Preamble; the 44th (1978) reversed some Emergency excesses. The 73rd and 74th Amendments (1992) brought democracy to the grassroots through panchayats and municipalities. The 86th made education a fundamental right.

Each major amendment responded to a crisis or aspiration: land reform battles, linguistic reorganisation, reservation policy, economic liberalisation. The document has grown with the nation rather than ossifying.

How the Indian Judiciary Protects the Spirit of the Constitution
The judiciary has repeatedly stepped in when other organs faltered. The 1973 Kesavananda Bharati verdict established the "basic structure" doctrine: Parliament can amend the Constitution but cannot destroy its core features—democracy, secularism, federalism, judicial review. From striking down unconstitutional amendments during the Emergency to recognising privacy as a fundamental right in 2017 and decriminalising homosexuality in 2018, the courts have expanded the Constitution's promise. Public Interest Litigation has turned the right to clean air, water, and education into realities for millions who never stepped inside a courtroom.

The Indian Constitution vs. Other Democracies: A Comparative Perspective
The U.S. Constitution is short, rigid, and amended only 27 times in over 230 years. Britain has no single written constitution. India chose a third path: detailed yet amendable, borrowing from everywhere yet uniquely its own.

It is more adaptable than the American model, more codified than the British, and far more socially ambitious than most. Where many new democracies collapsed, India endured because its Constitution provided both stability and space for evolution. Its reservation system, linguistic states, and independent judiciary remain models for diverse societies worldwide.

26 November: Why Constitution Day Matters More Than Ever Today
Constitution Day was officially declared in 2015, but November 26 has always been sacred: the day the Constituent Assembly adopted the document in 1949. In 2025, with democratic backsliding visible across the globe, the day carries extra weight. From schoolchildren reading the Preamble in morning assemblies to citizens taking pledges at historic sites, the nation recommits to justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity. At a time when misinformation spreads faster than truth and institutions face unprecedented strain, remembering the Constitution is an act of renewal—an affirmation that sovereignty ultimately resides in "We, the People."

A Living Document, A Shared Responsibility
Seventy-six years after its adoption, India's Constitution remains a work in progress—forged in diversity, tempered by crisis, expanded by judicial imagination, and renewed every time citizens choose dialogue over violence.

On this Constitution Day, the message is clear: the document belongs not to lawyers or politicians alone but to every Indian. Its preamble begins with "We, the People."

Youth and the Constitution: Are Students Aware of Their Fundamental Rights?

India has over 600 million citizens below the age of 25, yet surveys repeatedly reveal low awareness of basic rights. Many college students can quote Bollywood dialogues but stumble over Article 21 (right to life and personal liberty) or Article 19 (freedom of speech with reasonable restrictions).

Initiatives in schools and universities are trying to change this through mock parliaments, legal literacy workshops, and street plays.

From Directive Principles to Fundamental Duties: Evaluating India's Civic Responsibility
The Directive Principles of State Policy (Part IV) were designed as non-justiciable goals—guides for future governments rather than enforceable rights. Uniform civil code, free legal aid, village panchayats, and protection of the environment all began here. Many have since become law: the Right to Education, MGNREGA, and forest rights legislation owe their existence to these once-aspirational clauses. In 1976, the 42nd Amendment added Fundamental Duties (Article 51A)—a reminder that rights come with responsibilities: to protect the environment, promote harmony.

2026 WC Draw Ensures Top-Ranked Teams Avoid Each Other Until Semifinals

2026 FIFA World Cup seeds top four teams to prevent early clashes during the tournament

GENEVA

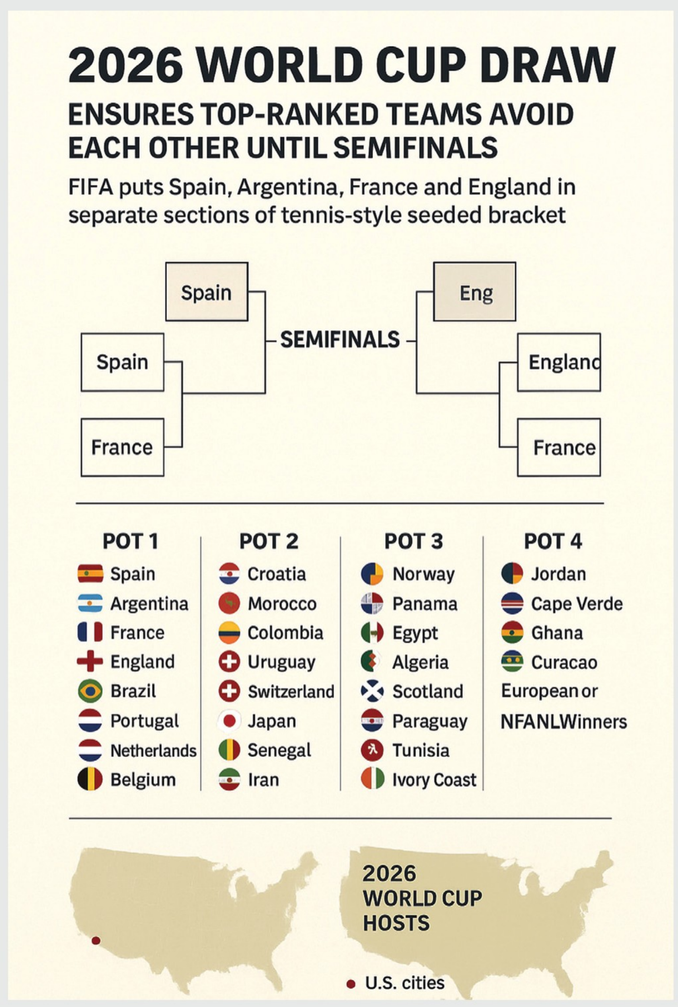
The 2026 FIFA World Cup draw next week will separate the tournament's top four teams — Spain, Argentina, France, and England — ensuring they do not meet until the semifinals, provided they top their respective groups.

FIFA confirmed that this tennis-style seeded bracket is designed to reward teams for consistent performance and world ranking. "To ensure competitive balance, two separate pathways to the semifinals have been established," the governing body said. This format allows defending champions Argentina, led by Lionel Messi, and top-ranked Spain with Lamine Yamal to potentially meet only in the final at MetLife Stadium near New York.

The 48-team tournament, co-hosted by the United States, Canada, and Mexico from June 11 to July 19, already has 42 teams qualified, including Iran and Haiti. The remaining six spots will be determined through March 2026 playoffs. European four-time champions Italy could emerge as a challenging addition in the draw's lower-seeded pots.

The draw, scheduled for Dec. 5 at Washington's Kennedy Center with U.S. President Donald Trump in attendance, will place teams into 12 groups of four, following continental rules. Europe has 16 teams, with no more than two in a single group, while other continents cannot have multiple teams in the same group.

The tournament will use 16 host stadiums, including 11 NFL venues in the U.S., three in Mexico, and two in Canada. Co-host nations are included among the 12 top-seeded teams. The U.S. will kick off on June 12 against a pot 3 team.



Estevao Stars in Chelsea Win; Maresca Praises Young Talents

Chelsea's Estevao outshone Yamal in dominant 3-0 Champions League victory

LONDON

Chelsea stunned Barcelona 3-0 at Stamford Bridge, with 18-year-old Estevao leading the charge, as the Premier League side moved into the Champions League top eight. Estevao scored a stunning goal against 10-man Barcelona, outshining Spain's Lamine Yamal in a first showdown between the two highly rated teenagers.

Chelsea boss Enzo Maresca praised both players, stating, "Estevao and Lamine Yamal are probably going to be the next Messi and Ronaldo. But they are just 18—they need to enjoy football and improve every day." Despite Maresca's initial comparison to football legends, he later cautioned that placing such pressure on young stars could be detrimental.

Estevao described his goal as "the most special moment" in his young career. The Brazil international left Barcelona defender Pau Cubarsi behind before scoring with his right foot, putting Chelsea 2-0 up. This marked his third consecutive goal in as many Champions League starts, joining Kylian Mbappe and Erling Haaland as teenagers to achieve the feat.

Barcelona's Yamal struggled under Marc Cucurella's tight marking, highlighting Chelsea's defensive discipline. Cucurella, a teammate of both young stars, praised Estevao's personality and rapid adjustment to European football since his summer move from Palmeiras.

Chelsea's win was also lauded by Raphinha, Estevao's Brazil teammate at Barcelona, who believes both youngsters will contest the world's best player title in years to come.

With the victory, Chelsea consolidate their position in the Champions League knockout race, while Estevao's rise continues to capture global attention. Maresca emphasized the importance of allowing young talents to develop at their own pace, hinting at a bright future for both Estevao and Yamal.

Riaz Confident India Can Shine at Junior Hockey WC in TN

CHENNAI

Former India captain and two-time Olympian Mohammed Riaz has expressed strong confidence in the national junior men's hockey team ahead of the FIH Junior World Cup, set to be played in Tamil Nadu from November 28.

"We have a good team that covers all the bases," Riaz said. "If they play to their potential, no one can stop them. The boys have been together for six to eight months, and their coordination and combinations are coming along well." Riaz acknowledged India's recent practice loss to Argentina but clarified that the team was experimenting with combinations. "In practice matches, we don't always field the full-strength team. These games are for testing combinations, and preparations are going smoothly," he said.

Joshna, Abhay Lead India's Charge as Chennai Hosts Squash World Cup

CHENNAI

India will showcase its squash talent when the 2025 SDAT-Squash World Cup takes center stage in Chennai from December 9 to 14. Former World No. 10 Joshna Chinappa and India's men's No. 1 player Abhay Singh will spearhead the hosts' campaign in the marquee event, which is sponsored by the Tamil Nadu Government.

All five World Squash Continental Federations will feature, with teams from Asia, Africa, Europe, Oceania, and Panamericana. India will compete alongside countries including Iran, Japan, Malaysia, Egypt, South Africa, Poland, Switzerland, Australia, and Brazil. The opening ceremony on December 8 at Express Avenue Mall will be graced by Tamil Nadu Deputy Chief Minister Udhayanidhi Stalin, World Squash President Zena Wooldridge, CEO William Louis-Marie, and European Squash President Thomas Troedsson. N Ramachandran, chairman of the Championship Committee, lauded the Tamil Nadu Government and venue partner Express Avenue Mall for their support.

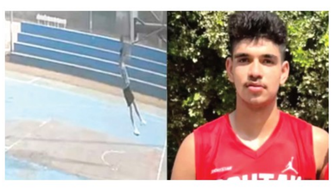
The event also celebrates the 25th anniversary of the Indian Squash Academy. Teams of two men and two women will compete in ties consisting of four matches, best-of-five games. The fast-paced scoring system introduced in the previous edition—games to seven with sudden-death tiebreaks—remains in place.

Egypt enters as defending champions, having edged Malaysia in last year's final. Hosts India aim higher this year. Abhay, focusing on one match at a time, said, "The home crowd support propels you to give your best. We all will give our best shot to win the title."

For Velavan Senthilkumar, it is his World Cup debut, while Joshna brings vital experience to the squad.

16-yr-old player dies in tragic pole fall

ROHTAK



A 16-year-old national-level basketball player, Hardik Rathi, tragically died when the iron pole of a basketball hoop collapsed on him at a sports complex in Lakhan Majra village, Rohtak. Teammates immediately rushed Rathi to the hospital, but he succumbed to his injuries during treatment, according to local SHO Samarjeet Singh. CCTV footage revealed that Rathi had reached for the hoop while practicing alone when the pole fell, crushing him under its weight. Fellow players present at the complex attempted to assist him, but the accident proved fatal.

The incident sparked outrage, prompting the Haryana government to convene a high-level review meeting.

At just 21, Ukrainian sumo star Aonishiki nears sumo's highest honor

Ukrainian Wrestler Aonishiki Reaches Japan's Elite Sumo Rank

TOKYO

Ukrainian wrestler Aonishiki Arata, born Danilo Yavhushyshyn in Vinnytsia, has been promoted to ozeki, the rank just below the prestigious yokozuna, in Japan's national sport. The promotion came in an elaborate ceremony Wednesday organized by the Japan Sumo Association.

Currently, only two yokozuna hold the top rank: Japan's Onosato and Mongolia-born Hoshoryu. "I'm happy but I feel more strongly about working harder from now on," Aonishiki said. "There is a higher rank, and that's my next goal."

Aonishiki's rise has been meteoric. Having moved to Japan after Russia's invasion of Ukraine three and a half years ago, he is now the fastest wrestler to reach ozeki since 1958 under the modern tournament system, winning only 14 tournaments along the way. His promotion was solidified after defeating Hoshoryu in a major tournament in western Japan.

Though smaller than many sumo wrestlers, weighing between 125 and 135 kilograms, Aonishiki compensates with technique and strength, maintaining a low stance and bench pressing 210 kilograms—almost 50% more than his body weight. He credits his success to supportive parents, who now live safely in Germany, and his dedication to learning Japanese rapidly while living exclusively among Japanese wrestlers. His fluency and discipline have earned him wide public admiration.

Non-Japanese athletes have periodically dominated sumo, including Mongolians and Hawaiians. Ukraine, with a strong Olympic wrestling tradition, now adds Aonishiki and fellow high-ranking wrestler Shishi Masaru to that list.

"I have to be bigger and still learn a lot more about sumo," Aonishiki said. "This is only the beginning."

Guardiola Admits Overhaul Backfired as Leverkusen Stuns Manchester City

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND

Manchester City's bold team overhaul backfired as Bayer Leverkusen stunned the Premier League champions 2-0 in Champions League clash at the Etihad Stadium. The defeat marked back-to-back losses for City, raising questions over Guardiola's decision to make 10 changes, including leaving star striker Erling Haaland out of the starting lineup for the first time this season.

"I take absolutely full responsibility," Guardiola said. "It was too much. It was the first time in my life I've done it and it was too much."

Leverkusen took the lead in the 23rd minute through Alejandro Grimaldo, and Patrik Schick doubled the advantage in the 54th. Guardiola reacted at halftime by making three substitutions, but even Haaland's introduction could not turn the game around. City now has five losses in all competitions this season and faces mounting pressure ahead of its next Champions League match against Real Madrid on December 10. Guardiola defended his approach, saying, "Everybody has to be involved… but maybe it was too much, seeing the result."

Leverkusen coach Kasper Hjulmand praised his team's performance. "No matter who they put on the pitch, it's a quality team. We did well," he said. Guardiola's decision follows City's weekend Premier League defeat to Newcastle, and the manager admitted that trying to rotate so many players simultaneously disrupted team cohesion. "You cannot play Erling all the time for 95 minutes," he said. While it was City's first Champions League loss this term, the result could affect their group standings depending on Wednesday's fixtures. The setback echoes last season's mid-campaign slump that derailed City's title defense.

Lakshya Sen

Credits Mental Training for Turnaround

Indian shuttler Lakshya Sen ended a tough season on a high, rediscovering form and confidence with his Australian Open Super 500 victory.

CHENNAI

India's premier singles shuttler Lakshya Sen capped a challenging season by winning the Australian Open Super 500 in Sydney. The victory ended a title drought for the 24-year-old from Almora, who endured 11 first-round exits earlier this year due to injuries and inconsistent form.

"After the Olympics, it was hard to find motivation again," Lakshya said in a media interaction. "I had to focus on the process, enjoy training and playing, and not think too much about results."

The 2021 World Championships bronze medallist struggled with back issues and high-intensity workloads during tournaments in Singapore and Indonesia. Smart load management and strength sessions helped him overcome the physical hurdles.

Lakshya credited mental trainer Mon Brockman of Israel for helping him regain confidence and motivation. "I took a step back and started enjoying the process again," he said. "Once I focused on the basics in training and playing, I felt much better on court." His season improved with a runner-up finish at the Hong Kong Open, followed by deep runs in Denmark, Hylo Open, and Japan Masters before culminating in the Australian Open triumph.

Looking ahead, Lakshya is keen to maintain his momentum. "Competition is high, but I want to focus on what I can do right in the next few months," he said. "I will take it one match at a time, keep enjoying the game, and continue building on this form for the next season."

The shuttler's candid reflection highlights the importance of mental resilience and process-oriented training in elite sports.

Serena Williams' Ex-Coach Defends Italian tennis star Jannik Sinner

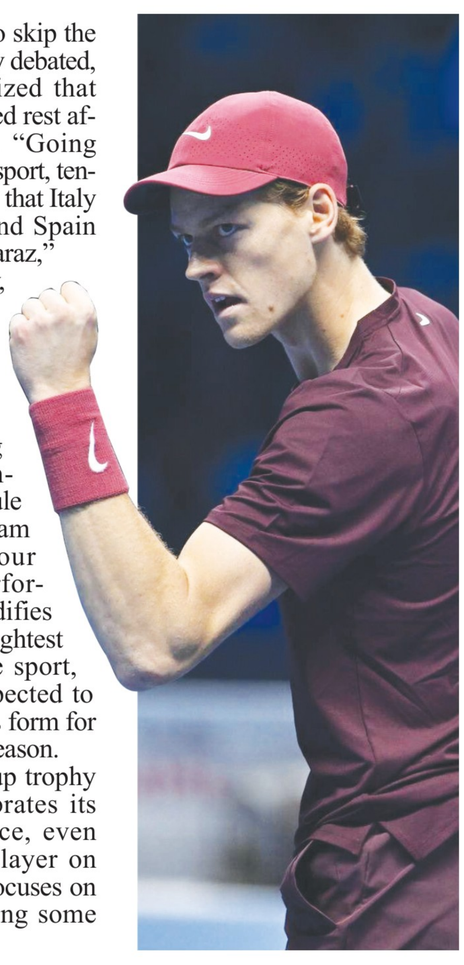
BOLOGNA FIERE

Italian tennis star Jannik Sinner has been given a reprieve from criticism after Italy clinched their third consecutive Davis Cup without him, with Serena Williams' former coach Rennae Stubbs offering a supportive perspective. Stubbs said Sinner was "just exhausted" after a marathon 2025 campaign.

"He's had an incredibly long year," Stubbs said. "He's just won the last tournament of the year. Of course he needs a break." Sinner, 23, captured six titles from ten finals this season, including the Australian Open, Wimbledon, Paris Masters, ATP Finals, and two ATP 500 events. Co-host Caitlin Thompson highlighted how Italy and Spain have been central in men's tennis over the past year. "Sinner and Carlos Alcaraz contested three Majors finals and the ATP Finals. Even absent from the Davis Cup Finals, it still came down to Italy and Spain," she noted.

Sinner's decision to skip the Davis Cup was widely debated, but Stubbs emphasized that elite players often need rest after packed seasons. "Going back to what is a real sport, tennis… it's pretty funny that Italy won without him, and Spain also did not have Alcaraz," Stubbs said. Currently, Sinner is taking a well-deserved vacation in the Maldives, recharging after an intense schedule of Grand Slam finals and tour events. His performance this year solidifies him as one of the brightest young talents in the sport, and the break is expected to help him maintain his form for the upcoming 2026 season.

With the Davis Cup trophy secured, Italy celebrates its continued dominance, even without their star player on court, while Sinner focuses on recovery and enjoying some downtime.



SA Seals Historic Test Series Triumph in India

SA's dominant performance ends India's long home supremacy with emphatic series sweep

GUWAHATI

South Africa clinched its first Test series win in India since 2000 with a commanding 408-run victory in the second Test at Guwahati, completing a 2-0 sweep that showcased exceptional bowling discipline and tactical superiority. Off-spinner Simon Harmer delivered a career-best 6-37 as India was bundled out for 140 in its second innings, collapsing under sustained pressure on the final day.

The Proteas had earlier set a daunting target of 549 runs after posting 489 and 260/5 declared across their two innings. India, having folded for 201 in the first innings and conceding a hefty 288-run lead, never found its footing in the chase. From 90-5 at tea on Wednesday, the hosts lost five wickets in just over an hour, summarily defeated before the lunch interval.

This landmark series victory is South Africa's only second in India in 25 years, the previous one coming under Hansie Cronje in 2000 when they beat the Sachin Tendulkar-led side 2-0. Since then, the Proteas had won only two of 13 Tests in India before rewriting their record in Kolkata and Guwahati this year. Harmer emerged as the architect of the triumph with 17 wickets across the two Tests, including his maiden five-wicket haul in India. Aiden Markram set a world record with nine catches in the Guwahati Test, the most by any fielder in a single match. For India, Ravindra Jadeja's fighting 54 off 87 balls offered brief resistance, but the absence of injured captain Shubman Gill loomed large.

INDIA'S SCORES:
1st Innings: 201
2nd Innings: 140
VICTORY MARGIN:
408 runs

Temba Bavuma strengthened his impressive leadership record, now boasting 11 wins from 12 Tests, including the 2025 World Test Championship title. The match also marked a milestone for India as Guwahati's Barsapara Stadium became the nation's 30th Test venue.

Series Result:
- South Africa: 2
- India: 0

Top Performer (SA):
- Simon Harmer – 17 wickets (Career-best 6-37)

- Aiden Markram – 9 catches (Most ever by a fielder in a Test)

Calls Grow for Change, but Gambhir Dismisses Talk of Stepping Down

GUWAHATI

Fans and analysts online sharply questioned Gambhir's future and continuation as head coach

Calls for Gautam Gambhir's resignation grew louder on Wednesday after India suffered another crushing Test series defeat at home, this time a 2-0 whitewash against South Africa. The loss in Guwahati, by a staggering 408 runs, also marked India's heaviest defeat in terms of runs in Test history. Yet, the Indian head coach made it clear he has no plans to walk away.

On social media, fans, analysts and writers questioned whether Gambhir should continue in the role. Blogger and podcaster John Wright pointed out that India had now endured "second Test match series home whitewash defeats in 12 months", referencing last year's drubbing by New Zealand. Journalist Gowhar Geelani noted India's persistent slump, highlighting that the team has now lost 10 of the 18 Tests under Gambhir, including 5-0 at home across two series and a 3-1 defeat in Australia.

Despite the rising criticism, Gambhir remained composed during the post-match press conference. "It is up to the BCCI to decide my future," he said, reiterating that he would not make an emotional decision. He reminded critics of India's strong performances earlier in the year, including the Champions Trophy triumph and the hard-fought 2-2 series draw in England.

"The blame lies with everyone and starts with me," Gambhir said, admitting India's batting collapse from 95/1 to 122/7 was unacceptable. However, he refused to single out players, maintaining that responsibility must be shared.

Gambhir's selection strategies have been under scrutiny, particularly his preference for all-rounders and frequent changes to the playing XI. Defending his philosophy, he said Test cricket demanded "tough characters with limited skills" who could withstand pressure and play long innings.

For now, the decision rests with the BCCI, but Gambhir has made his stance clear — he isn't stepping aside voluntarily.

LOVE UNFAZED BY SHOULDER INJURY AS PACKERS PUSH ON

GREEN BAY

Green Bay Packers quarterback Jordan Love says he won't "sugarcoat" the fact that he is playing through a non-throwing shoulder injury, but maintains it shouldn't limit his performance as the team enters a demanding stretch of games. Love injured his left shoulder during a scramble against the New York Giants on November 16, briefly leaving the field before returning to lead the Packers to a 27-20 win. He also started last Sunday's 23-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, though he handled all exchanges with his right hand. "It's one of those injuries I'm able to play through," Love said on Tuesday. "Any time you fall on it, you feel it, but nothing that holds me back."

This is the second time this season Love has dealt with an issue on his non-throwing arm; left-thumb surgery in August forced him to get comfortable using only his right hand for handoffs — a habit he slipped into again last weekend.

Pant Warns Against Taking Home Cricket for Granted

GUWAHATI

Stand-in captain Rishabh Pant conceded that India must evolve quickly as a Test side after suffering a crushing 408-run defeat to South Africa in the second Test. The loss marked South Africa's first away whitewash in India since Hansie Cronje's team achieved the feat in the 1999-2000 season and exposed India's vulnerability even in familiar conditions.

"It's a little disappointing. As a team, we need to get better," Pant said during the post-match presentation. "You can't take cricket for granted just because you're playing at home. They dominated the series, and we must give them credit."

Pant emphasised that India must reflect on their shortcomings and rebuild with clarity. "We need to take the learning and stick as a team. Cricket demands that you capitalise on key moments, and we didn't do that," he said, noting that India failed to sustain pressure throughout the series.

South African skipper Temba Bavuma hailed the emphatic result, calling it a "massive achievement" for a group that had endured difficult phases in recent months. Returning from injury, Bavuma credited the team's mindset shift and praised spinners Simon Harmer and Keshav Maharaj for their control and consistency. Harmer, who claimed a series-defining 17 wickets, was named Player of the Series, calling it a "special feeling" to succeed in India a decade after his earlier struggles. Player of the Match Marco Jansen highlighted the collective effort and credited coach Shukri Conrad for encouraging him to play freely. Aiden Markram, meanwhile, said the team avoided "preconceived ideas" about Indian conditions and relied on disciplined bowling to sustain pressure. For India, the defeat serves as a stark reminder that home advantage alone cannot compensate for lapses in execution — a message Pant acknowledged India must heed moving forward.

PANT ADMITS INDIA MUST IMPROVE SIGNIFICANTLY AS HOME CONDITIONS NO LONGER GUARANTEE VICTORIES

AFI Overhauls Calendar for Sustained Athlete Performance

NEW DELHI

With both the Asian Games and Commonwealth Games scheduled in the coming season, the Athletics Federation of India (AFI) has undertaken a major overhaul of its domestic competition structure. The aim is to ensure athletes perform at high levels multiple times through the year, rather than peaking early and tapering off before major championships.

In a calendar expanded from 32 to 40 meets, the AFI has introduced the Indian Athletics Series, comprising 16 competitions and a Finals at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium in New Delhi—returning to the domestic lineup after three years. The World Athletics Continental Tour meet in Bhubaneswar has been upgraded to Silver level, offering higher ranking points, while India will also host its first National Indoor Championships.

The revamp stems from a recurring issue: top athletes hitting peak form too early. This season alone saw Praveen Chithravel match his national triple jump record (17.37m) in April, only to struggle thereafter. Similar patterns emerged with Shaili Singh, Gurindervir Singh, and quartermiler Rupal, all unable to build on early-season highs.

Chief coach Radhakrishnan Nair emphasised the need for a phased approach aligned with global standards. "Elite sprinters abroad compete 12–13 times before their main meet. They know how to distribute their efforts. We want our athletes and coaches to plan across general preparation, specific preparation, and competition periods," he said.

To support this shift, AFI has lowered qualification standards to give emerging athletes more exposure, especially in the new series where select junior events will be added. Seminars have also been held to help coaches adapt to the redesigned calendar.

Key national meets include the Federation Cup in Ranchi (May 22–25) and the National Inter-State Championships in Bhubaneswar (July 8–12), likely doubling as selection trials for the Asian and Commonwealth Games. With Glasgow 2026 (July 23–August 2) and the Asian Games (September 19–October 4) scheduled close together, AFI will soon finalise selection criteria and priority events.

Athletes will also be required to compete in a minimum number of build-up meets—two for the Federation Cup, and three (including a state meet) for the Inter-State and National Open Championships—as AFI pushes for sustained competitiveness throughout the year.

Jasveer Singh Takes Over as Patna Pirates Coach

PATNA

The Patna Pirates have announced Jasveer Singh, former head coach of the UP Yoddhas, as their new Head Coach ahead of the upcoming Pro Kabaddi League season. Singh, who resigned from the Yoddhas after a disappointing 2025 campaign, will bring his extensive experience to the Pirates in a bid to strengthen their strategies and performance. Singh spent seven seasons with the UP Yoddhas, guiding them to five playoff appearances and three semi-finals. Despite his long tenure, the team finished ninth this season with seven wins from 18 matches, prompting Singh to take responsibility and step down. "It is not fair to put all the responsibility on players. As a head coach, I share accountability," Singh said in a post-match press conference.

The Patna Pirates themselves had a rollercoaster season in 2025. Starting under Anup Kumar, they won only two of their first nine matches and were languishing in tenth position. Randeep Dalal took over mid-season and orchestrated a stunning turnaround, leading the team to five consecutive wins, securing a seventh-place finish in the league stage with eight wins from 18 matches.

In the playoffs, the Pirates continued their resurgence, winning three straight matches to reach the third Eliminator.

Srikanth Targets Revival at Syed Modi International

LUCKNOW

Kidambi Srikanth arrives at the Syed Modi India International this week with renewed confidence and a clear objective — to build on the form that sparked his resurgence at the Malaysia Masters earlier this year. Five months after ending a four-year wait for a BWF World Tour final, the former world No.1 is looking to reclaim his place among the sport's elite.

Srikanth's journey back to relevance began in May, when he fought his way from the qualifiers to the final in Kuala Lumpur. Then ranked 65th, he stunned higher-ranked opponents including Toma Junior Popov and Nhat Nguyen before losing to China's Li Shi Feng in straight games. The performance not only ended a long title drought but also revived belief in a meaningful late-career push.

Now under the guidance of former rival Parupalli Kashyap, Srikanth is focused on rebuilding steadily. "We have discussed his plans for the next Asian Games and improving his ranking is the immediate goal," Kashyap said ahead of Srikanth's opening-round match against compatriot Kavin Thangam. "He is at a later stage of his career, so staying fit is crucial. He is working really hard."

Kashyap, who defeated Srikanth in the 2015 Syed Modi final before the latter clinched the 2016 title, believes his ward is on the right track. "He has shown good form. Undoubtedly, he is slowly improving," he said.

For Srikanth, the Malaysia Masters runner-up finish remains a pivotal milestone. "I feel I'm almost there. It's about winning those important matches," he had said in May, adding that he sees steady improvement in his game.

While an Olympic dream may be fading, Srikanth's ambitions on the BWF circuit remain realistic. With consistency, fitness and confidence returning, the 2025 season could yet mark a strong revival for the seasoned shuttler.
